

UNITED STATES TROOPS IN CLASH WITH MEXICAN CIVILIANS IN THE TOWN OF PARRAL WEDNESDAY

Soldiers of the Seventh Cavalry Fired Upon and Then Pursued to the Suburbs.

ATTACKED A SECOND TIME

One American Believed to Have Been Killed—Machine Gun Used on the Mexicans.

THE DISPATCHES CONFLICT

Carranza Urges That the American Forces Be Withdrawn.

Washington, April 13. — American troops in Mexico have had their first battle with the natives at the moment General Carranza is urging their withdrawal.

On Wednesday night, while General Carranza's note was on its way to Washington, troops of the Seventh Cavalry, under Major Tompkins were fired upon in Parral, a Villa stronghold in Western Chihuahua; were pursued to the suburbs, while the Carranza garrison took a doubtful part in the affray, and were attacked again during the night.

Exact Losses Not Known.

Complete information regarding the losses to the American troops or to the Mexicans had not reached Washington tonight. Secretary Baker informed President Wilson that a brief dispatch to the War Department said that according to unofficial reports, one American cavalryman was killed and that the troops used a machine gun against the Mexicans.

Mr. Baker announced later that he had received General Funston to take any steps necessary to prevent further trouble. Asked whether this might mean the enforced use of Mexican railroads for the movement of soldiers and supplies he said General Funston was on the ground and would use any emergency required. The Secretary expressed the hope, however, that the trouble at Parral was purely local and did not present further difficulties.

General Carranza's dispatch to the State Department pointed out that the clash proved his contention that the presence of American troops in Mexico is leading to a situation which threatens to go beyond his control, telegraphed that "many deaths had occurred on both sides."

Foreign Minister Aguilar, in a dispatch sent before that from General Carranza said one American trooper was killed and several civilians wounded.

Consul Garcia, Carranza agent at El Paso, wired the embassy that "several persons were killed on both sides." His dispatch added that when American troops entered Parral, the people protested and it appears the garrison did also.

This latter statement is in direct contradiction to the dispatches of Carranza and Aguilar, which claimed the Carranza troops attempted to hold back the Mexican mob. A report to the State Department from Consul Letcher, at Chihuahua, forwarded through General Funston, said there had been some "trouble" at Parral when the American consul was fired upon by Mexican civilians.

The State and War Departments, receiving from the Mexican embassy their first information that the clash had been serious at once sent out orders for a full report. It had not been received tonight.

Upon President Wilson rests the decision of what the effect of the attack on the administration's Mexican policy shall be; whether it shall have a bearing on consideration of Carranza's proposal for the withdrawal of the troops, and finally whether Carranza's proposal shall be accepted, rounded or negated. Members of his official family indicated tonight that it practically was certain no immediate order for withdrawal of the expedition seeking Villa would be given. The subject will be laid before the cabinet tomorrow. Because of the serious turn in the Mexican situation, and the gravity of the submarine issue with Germany, the President cancelled an engagement to go to New York tomorrow night and speak there Saturday night.

Congress will not have an opportunity to show its feeling until it meets tomorrow, news of the attack on American troops not having reached the capital until after the Senate and House had adjourned. The subject will be taken up by the Senate and House tomorrow. The subject will be taken up by the Senate and House tomorrow.

Anxiety for Troopers.

Tonight the situation of the isolated detachment is the cause of some anxiety. Outnumbered and possibly beleaguered in a neighborhood notorious for anti-American and how far from reinforcements in one here knows, the troopers may be in grave danger.

The story of the attack upon them is told in the following dispatches to the Carranza embassy here, the first from Foreign Minister Aguilar and the second from General Carranza himself.

News of the clash was contained in the following telegram from Queretaro, dated yesterday and sent by for-

sign Minister Aguilar to Carranza's ambassador here:

"Please confer with the Honorable Secretary Lansing and inform him that in the city of Parral, the Mayor of the city, Jose De La Herrera, immediately called the attention of the commandant of this column to the inconvenience of his entering the city, his soldiers immediately withdrawing, but when they were leaving the people protested and the mayor and military commanders tried to control them with their appeals in order to prevent friction, but owing to the imprudence of a civilian who fired a shot, a general disorder followed, in which one American soldier was killed and several civilians were wounded by shots from American soldiers."

Says Mob Was Checked.

"Military commanders succeeded in checking the mob at Maturana to avoid them from following American troops, forming a cordon of constitutionalist soldiers."

In this connection the Mexican government warned the government of the United States from the beginning that would be used for American troops to pass through cities due to the impossibility to avoid friction between them and the people and our forces at an extreme moment. The American government, to that effect, agreed to give the necessary instructions to its troops to have them abstain from occupying any towns. The Mexican government deprecates the occurrence but it was beyond its efforts to prevent it and insists with the American government on the necessity of withdrawing its troops from our soil in order to give room for the alteration of the good and cordial relations which both countries are obliged to preserve."

After message sent you by Secretary for Foreign Affairs Aguilar, the secretary of war received a message from General Gutierrez, dated at Chihuahua, informing him that it had been impossible for military commanders to check the mob against the American troops who entered Parral and that this evening (April 12) the fight had continued between our people and the American forces, that many deaths had occurred on both sides.

Excitement Among People Great.

General Obregon has already given orders to prevent continuation of battle, but the excitement is so great among the people that I fail to know whether the struggle can be stopped.

"Call on the Secretary of State and advise him that the occurrence is due to the fact that the Carranza commander in having entered Parral without the permission of the authorities, violating the orders of that government to prevent the occupation of towns by American forces."

"Please cause the Secretary of State to see that it is unwise for American troops to remain any longer on our soil as the Mexican people are now to the situation created by the presence of American troops in our territory. I will keep on advising you through the foreign office any further incidents."

A later dispatch from American sources, sent today, said the fighting was over.

Garcia's dispatch to the embassy follows:

Several Persons Killed.

"General Gavira (the Carranza commander at Juarez) informs me that last night (Wednesday) about 140 American soldiers tried to enter Parral. The people protested and it appears the garrison did also. Several persons were killed on both sides."

The Secretary declined to state whether General Pershing had orders to keep his troops out of Mexican towns in the future. He pointed out that when the expedition reached Casa Grande, the question arose with the de facto government as to the "occupation" of any Mexican town by the American troops, and orders were given not to occupy any town. Mr. Baker indicated, however, that these orders did not prevent the American troops from passing through such towns when necessary and that he did not consider that the entry of 150 soldiers into Parral with its 15,000 inhabitants could be construed as an "occupation."

General Funston made clear in his dispatches that Parral is so physically situated that it is difficult to pass around it and almost necessary to pass through it to proceed south. That probably was responsible for the cavalrymen entering the town and officials noted that all the Mexican reports agreed that they retired at once when the local officials protested against their presence. The War Department investigation will clear up how they came to enter.

Withdrawal Not Indicated.

It was evident tonight that Congress having unanimously approved by resolution the sending of troops into Mexico for the capture of the Villa bandits, would sharply oppose their withdrawal without the accomplishment of their object. There is now, however, no indication that the administration has any such intention.

The first impression of General Carranza's note in this quarter was that it merely opened the way to a discussion of the advisability of withdrawing the troops, basing the suggestion on a statement of facts as they appeared to Carranza. It does not specifically request, or demand, withdrawal of the forces. Some officials were inclined to believe General Carranza took this step to assure his countrymen that he was safeguarding the sovereignty of his country. A prolonged diplomatic discussion was looked for with no serious embarrassment of the pursuit of the bandits.

The Carranza affray, however, introduced a more serious aspect. In his messages transmitting the reports General Carranza used stronger terms, although avoiding as does his note, language that can be construed as more than an argument supporting his urgent opinion that the troops be recalled.

The Carranza embassy issued the following statement after the note and telegrams had been placed in Secretary Lansing's hands:

Carranza Embassy Issues Statement.

"Eliseo Arredondo, ambassador designate of the Mexican government in Washington, voicing the sentiments of Mr. Carranza, called at the Department of State this afternoon to express Mr. Carranza's sincere regret for the occurrence in Parral between American troops and the people of that town, showing that the lamentable incident was the result of the mistake of the American commander in entering the city contrary to the instructions of his government. This can be readily seen from the telegrams submitted to the Secretary of State."

The official translation of the note signed by Secretary Aguilar made public here tonight differs somewhat from the unofficial version published today, the translation as given out by the State Department being more diplomatic. In substance, however, the texts are the same and present the argument that American troops should be withdrawn from Mexico as they had been sent on a misunderstanding by the State Department of the attitude of the de facto government.

There is one marked difference. In citing reasons for the proposal for withdrawal of the American troops, the official text shows this language: "And because this expedition is not fulfilling its object and undoubtedly cannot do so because the band headed by Villa has already been dispersed."

The unofficial text says the expedition "has fulfilled its object in so far as it will be able to do so."

The basis of the suggestion that discussion of withdrawal of the troops be taken up, however, appears to rest on a note received from Carranza on April 3, transmitting a counter draft of the terms of the protocol covering a reciprocal agreement for the pursuit of bandits by one country beyond the borders of the other.

Attached to that communication, the note says, was a statement by Secretary Lansing that the United States government trusted the conditions of the proposed protocol would not apply to the present expedition and thanking the de facto government "for achieving as yet by you, a convention by means of which the forces of the United States are given permission to pursue Villa and his party on Mexican territory."

The next paragraph recites that the de facto government "necessarily believed" that the United States government trusted the conditions of the proposed protocol would not apply to the present expedition and thanking the de facto government "for achieving as yet by you, a convention by means of which the forces of the United States are given permission to pursue Villa and his party on Mexican territory."

Weather Hinders the Infantry Operations

Little Activity in Region Around Verdun Reported.

German Attempts to Advance Against Russians Fail—Turks Deliver Powerful Counter Attacks in Caucasus.

Before Verdun the infantry has remained inactive, only in the sectors to the northwest, embracing Hill 304 and the front from Le Mort Homme to Cumieres has there been heavy work by the artillery. Berlin reports that unfavorable weather is hindering infantry operations.

The Germans in the Lake Narocz and Ikskull bridgehead positions on the Russian front have made attempts to advance against the Russians after preparatory bombardment. In each instance, according to Petrograd, they were repulsed.

On the Austro-Italian line the usual bombardments and infantry attacks at various points continue. In Asiatic Turkey the Turks have delivered powerful counter attacks in the Caucasus region against important positions recently captured from them by the Russians. The attempts failed, according to Petrograd.

Five additional vessels have met with disaster as a result of mines or submarines. The British steamers Robert Adamson and Angus and the British bark Inverlyon have been sunk by submarines, while a Danish vessel named Dorthea has been sunk by a mine and the Dutch Colombia damaged by a mine.

A semi-official dispatch from Berlin calculates the French losses up to the present in the fighting around Verdun at 150,000 officers and men.

The British losses in the fighting with the Turks at Sannayus April 5 are declared officially to have been much below 5,000—the figure given in the official Turkish statement announcing the defeat of the British column.

EL PASO EAGERLY AWAITS NEXT MOVE

"What Will Washington Do?" is the Supreme Question Since the Parral Incident.

NO OPEN DISTURBANCE YET

Carranza's Request for Withdrawal of American Troops is Taken Calmly.

Food Riots in Many Cities in Mexico.

El Paso, Texas, April 13.—El Paso was in intense anticipation tonight, "What will Washington do?" was the question on every lip; every other topic faded into insignificance.

The news of the clash at Parral between American soldiers and Mexicans was followed by reports of serious rioting at other points in Chihuahua, but in none were American soldiers said to be involved. The riots were said to be due principally to scarcity of food. In many cities of northern Mexico, the masses of the people are said to be on the brink of starvation.

The worst rioting was reported far to the south in Aguas Calientes, capital of the state of that name. Spasmodic food riots during the last two days were described in a message received from a mining concern with large interests in Aguas Calientes.

As far as this section of the border is concerned, the news of Carranza's withdrawal of the American troops has not caused any open disturbance. Juarez maintained its customary placid attitude and the Mexicans on both sides of the river seemed far less excited than the Americans.

General Obregon, Mexican minister of war, has telegraphed General Gavira, commander of the Juarez garrison, details of the shooting of American soldiers by citizens of Parral. The dispatch was dated at Queretaro, April 12, and read:

"My department, desiring to bring to the knowledge of the army the lamentable incident occurring yesterday in the city of Parral, Chihuahua, between the people of that city and an American detachment, has the honor to engage in the pursuit of Villa, communicates this to you in order that you in turn may make it known to your subordinates and give it also to the press so that the people may know the facts as they are."

"At 1 o'clock in the afternoon, an American force, composed of 150 men, entered that city and the authorities of the same notified the commander of the said force that the Americans should vacate it."

The commander of the Americans began to carry out the wish of the authorities when the people of the city organized a meeting of protest against the entrance into the city of the American troops without permission.

"The civil authorities tried to avoid a conflict but their forces were not sufficient to handle the situation. In the excitement which resulted, one American soldier was killed and several citizens were wounded. The municipal president, Jose De La Luz Herrera, and the constitutionalist generals Garcia, Lomax and Hernandez, with some of their officials and troops tried to calm the people and succeeded thus in avoiding an incident that might have taken very large proportions. The American force left our city."

"I have informed the first chief of the occurrence."

AMERICANS INCREASE THEIR VIGILANCE AGAINST ATTACK FROM ANY MEXICAN QUARTER

News of Carranza's Request for Withdrawal is Dispatched to All United States Troops in Mexico—Scouts Ordered to Watch for the Force of General Gomez—General Pershing Will Continue His Plan of Pursuit of Villa.

San Antonio, Texas, April 13.—From Columbus, N. M., to points near the Chihuahua-Durango state line, American troops increased their vigilance today against attacks from any quarter.

Word that Carranza had requested the opening of negotiations looking to their withdrawal was sent up and down the line of communication and forwarded to the camps of the detached cavalry columns that have penetrated the hills and mountains beyond Parral in their search for Villa.

No official communication will be sent to them until the War Department has communicated the news and its wishes to General Funston, but orders, it was learned, have been sent from here to take all precautions against attack by any organization, whether that of Villa or not.

No Report From Pershing.

General Funston received no report from General Pershing regarding the Parral incident, and late today knew no more of that development than was contained in press dispatches and in the report sent by Consul Letcher from Chihuahua which indicated that both Carranza and Obregon had fired upon the detachment of 140 American troops when they entered Parral and that the fire had been returned.

It was assumed that the commanding officer of the American detachment was Major Tompkins, who, it was believed might be having difficulties in

SAYS BRITISH ACT IS DOMESTIC LAW

United States Assured Care Will be Taken to Avoid Injury to Neutral Commerce.

REPLY TO NOTE OF JAN. 26.

Trading With the Enemy Act Purely to Restrict Activities and Trade of Persons Under British Jurisdiction.

Washington, April 13.—Great Britain's reply to the American note of January 26 protesting against the trading with the enemy act as "pregnant with possibilities of undue interference with American trade" described the act as "purely domestic legislation to restrict the activities and trade of persons under British jurisdiction" and assured the United States that in its enforcement every care will be exercised to avoid injury to neutral commerce.

The act, approved last December, is designed to prevent British subjects from trading with any business firm which has business connections with or is controlled in any part by Great Britain's enemies. The United States held that the regulations had been framed "without a proper regard for the rights of persons domiciled in the United States to carry on trade with persons in belligerent countries," and made a formal reservation of the right to contest its legality should it be found that American trade was hampered.

The British reply is in the form of a foreign office memorandum to Ambassador Page dated February 16 and was made public by the State Department tonight.

It says the act was framed with the object of bringing British trading with the enemy regulations into greater harmony with those adopted by the French government since the commencement of the war by applying in the determination of enemy character in addition to the old test of domicile.

In devising this legislation, the note continues, His Majesty's government were careful "not only to avoid any definition which would impose enemy status upon all persons of enemy nationality and association, but also to take powers of discrimination which would enable them to apply the purely commercial restrictions contemplated only in regard to those persons from whom it was necessary in British interests to withhold the facilities afforded by British resources."

"His Majesty's government have therefore abstained from a course of action admittedly within their rights as belligerents which is not only the existing practice of the French government, but has been followed by the doctrine openly avowed by many other states to be the basis upon which their trading with the enemy regulations would be founded in the event of war, and have confined themselves to passing a piece of purely domestic legislation empowering them to restrict the activities and trade of persons under British jurisdiction in such a manner and to such an extent as may seem to be necessary to the national interest."

SPIRIT EVIDENCED IN CHAPMAN-ALEXANDER MEETING REMARKABLE

FOR GREATER NAVY AT ARMY'S EXPENSE

Senators Stone and Borah Advocate Stronger Forces on the Seas Than on Land.

AS FIRST AND LAST LINE

Senator Borah Would Eliminate Provisions for Volunteer Army and Militia—General Debate on Army Bill Closes.

Washington, April 13.—Agitation for a greater navy at the expense of army increases marked the last day of general debate in the Senate today on the army reorganization bill. Chairman Stone, of the Foreign Relations committee, made a plea for a navy big enough to fight offensively on the high seas to defend American rights anywhere in the world and Senator Borah, on the Republican side, urged that the Federal volunteer and National Guard provisions of the Chamberlain bill both be sacrificed in order to add to the extension of the country's naval forces.

In the course of his speech Senator Stone criticized both Great Britain and Germany. He declared they were equally guilty of offenses against the peace and well-being of mankind, the former because of its policy of "navalism" and the latter because of its "militarism."

Navy More Important.

While he deplored any programme that could be construed as either navalism or militarism in the United States, the Missouri senator said he was for adequate defense, and thought the navy was by far more important than the army.

Asked if he thought the United States had an adequate force in case of "unpleasantness" should follow developments in Mexico, he said he thought an adequate force speedily could be procured for an emergency.

Senator Borah was emphatic in his championship of the navy, not only as the first line of national defense, but also as the last line of defense. He said the naval bill should have been considered by the Senate before the Army bill "so that we might have a saner, more wholesome view of a programme of defense than we have now."

"If we should strengthen our navy the American people would accept with confidence that they will a large land military programme," he continued. "If I could have my way, I would strengthen to the utmost degree the American navy; strengthen it so there could be no reasonable doubt of its efficiency to defend the country, and I would supplement it with a reasonable army."

PRAYS NATION MAY NOT BE FORCED INTO WAR

Wilson Makes His First Political Speech of the Year

Achievements of the Democratic Party Are Reviewed in Address Before Jefferson Day Banquet of Democrats.

Washington, April 13.—President Wilson, speaking at a Jefferson Day banquet of Democrats from all parts of the country here today, prayed that the United States would not be drawn into a quarrel not of its own choosing, but in where the interests of America were coincident with the interests of humanity and have the courage to withdraw when the interests of humanity had been conserved. He was interrupted by cheers and shouts of "yes."

During his address the President had mentioned the European war and the Mexican question without intimating his plans in either of those problems. He declared that in the present situation, the responsibility was with the Democratic party, because that party controls the government and that "it is for us to hold the balance even and not to allow some malign influence to depress one side or the other."

Most of the speech was devoted to reviewing the achievements of the Democratic party during the last three years and to a criticism of the Republicans as the party with "a provincial spirit." The President asserted that he was not interested in personal ambition nor even enthusiastic over party success, but that he was interested in seeing the load of depressing humanity lifted. He mentioned none of the Republican leaders by name.

Referring incidentally to Mexico he told of how many had urged that trustees of the nation's welfare be chosen and of his reply that no nation achieved real prosperity and happiness for its masses through a trusteeship imposed on it from above.

Nothing Comparable Seen in Their Eight Years of Work, Says Evangelist.

WORK IS SURELY OF GOD

Dr. Chapman Again Preaches to Thousands Who Fill the Big Tabernacle.

TWO SPECIAL DELEGATIONS

Service Held at Delgado Mills at Noon Yesterday.

In all the eight years that he and Mr. Alexander have worked together, they had never been in a city where the spirit was comparable to that now in evidence here, declared Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, last night at the close of his sermon at the Tabernacle in which the Chapman-Alexander meetings are being held. "Twice this evening," the famous evangelist added, "I was on the point of stopping my sermon. I felt that I could not go on. This work is surely of God."

Immense Building Filled.

For more than an hour last night a steady stream of people passed through the main entrance of the Tabernacle located on Castle street in Wilmington and by the time Dr. Chapman began his sermon, which was from the text, Psalm 134: "Ye men of the house of God, there was hardly a vacant seat in the immense building."

Dr. Chapman delivered a powerful and telling address, which stressed the need for a deeper sense of personal responsibility for others. His voice, vibrant with deep emotion, carried to the farthest corners of the Tabernacle. He declared that the responsibility for others, carried to the farthest corners of the Tabernacle, was a message that the world needs. His sermon, ringing with a sure and certain faith in an all-wise, omnipotent God, seemed to breathe a note of hope from start to finish.

The audience was awed to extraordinary dimensions by two large delegations of men, one being the Committee of One Hundred and their invited friends, and the other composed of the men from the Presbyterian and Episcopal churches, who met at the Fifth Avenue Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock and were there addressed by Dr. Chapman, before marching in a body to the Tabernacle.

For three quarters of an hour Mr. Charles M. Alexander, in his inimitable style, held the great gathering responsible to his every request, and the people in a desire to please the genial song leader sang as many of them probably never sang before. The voice of the song-leader glowed with a visible delight at the close of a particularly fine effort on the part of the congregation. "Do My Prayers," "Saved by Grace" and "He Lifted Me" were some of the hymns chosen for the service and the Tabernacle walls rang with the captivating melodies.

The Afternoon Service.

The last of the afternoon services for the week was held at the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon. Dr. Chapman preached the last of his series of sermons on prayer, his subject being "Why Are Our Prayers Not Answered?" "Ye ask, and receive not, because James (4:3) says, 'Ye ask and receive not, because ye ask with evil intentions.' He pointed out in a very clear and emphatic manner some reasons as to why God does not answer prayer.

"I have purposely stopped my reading in the middle of this text," said Dr. Chapman. "By so doing you may be able to think more carefully concerning the reason for unanswered prayer." Among the reasons named was because of a wrong spirit, a lack of harmony with the will of God. He showed how Christ believed intensely in prayer and that he was ready to be borne in mind that heaven is now as full of spiritual force as ever, that God is as willing as ever, that men are still dependent upon prayer and that God waits to control some individual life, and when this is done He will be able to accomplish wonders.

In conclusion Dr. Chapman showed the need of not only knowing God's will, but also of doing it and declared that to pursue the latter course is Heaven on earth. There are three ways He can answer prayer, said the evangelist, one by saying "yes," another by saying "no," while the third is by saying "wait." In all these God's will must be first.

The attendance at the afternoon service was larger than at any of the preceding day services during the week, while a deep spirit of earnestness prevailed in the service preceding the sermon, under the leadership of Mr. Alexander, was joined in by the audience with spirit and enthusiasm.

"There will be no afternoon service today, but tonight at 7:30 o'clock the song service will begin and an hour later Dr. Chapman will be here again. The service is expected to be the most important of the series so far."

This morning at 10 o'clock, Dr. Chapman and Mr. Alexander will conduct service at the residence of Dr. James Sprunt on South Front street. The public is invited to attend without having a special invitation, so long as there is room in the residence.

Neither team scored until the ninth inning when Doyle led off for New York with a single. Fletcher beat out a bunt and when third base was left uncovered Doyle raced there, drawing a throw by Luderus while Bancroft was hustling for the bag. The ball went out to left field and Doyle scored, while Fletcher, who reached second on the play, scored on Kauff's sacrifice and Merkle's single. SIMPLY CANCELED ATHLETIC EVENTS ALREADY ARRANGED Trinity Athletic Council Did Not Assume Severance of Relations.

(Special Star Correspondence.)
Trinity College, N. C., April 13.—Many state papers have carried reports, written apparently by Durham, that the Trinity Athletic Council, on Monday evening formally and permanently declared athletic relations between Trinity and Wake Forest at an end.

The Athletic Council took no such step, but simply cancelled the track meets which had been arranged between the two colleges. The reports stated that other athletic events had also been cancelled. No other events had been arranged, and for that reason, could not have been cancelled.

The Athletic Council gave no reason for its action in cancelling the track meets.

ROCKY MOUNT TAR HEELS ON EXHIBITION TOUR TODAY

Rocky Mount, N. C., April 13.—Tomorrow morning bright and early the Tar Heels bid goodbye to Rocky Mount for the exhibition season and for the first time this year local fans must watch the bulletin boards if they are to know what the Virginia League champions are doing. On Friday and Saturday the Richmond club of the International league will be engaged at Richmond and the forecast seems to indicate that a battle royal is ahead. The stay in the Old Dominion will be brief, however, for Sunday Ryan and his cohorts will recross the line and Monday will do battle with the Asheville, Carolina League, champions at Gastonia. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday Charles Clancy and his Twins over at Winston-Salem will engage the Tar Heels while the curtain will be rung down on the exhibition dates with two days' play in Raleigh on Friday and Saturday.

SEASON IN THE SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION OPENS TODAY.

Atlanta, Ga., April 13.—With a full quota of rejuvenated teams in whose line-ups appear many faces new to Southern cities, the Southern Association will begin its 16th annual season in four cities of the South tomorrow. This year's schedule calls for 140 games with the season closing September 19 instead of 160 games as last year. The opening day will find Atlanta at Mobile; Birmingham at New Orleans; Chattanooga at Nashville, and Little Rock at Memphis.

ROCKY MOUNT DEFEATED BY THE SCORE OF 15 TO 7 IN LAST OF TWO GAME SERIES IN THE RAILROAD TOWN.

(Special Star Telegram.)
Rocky Mount, N. C., April 13.—After five innings of a well played game and a first string pitcher of the Tar Heels was called to the dugout, the Raleigh Capitals fell to Darden, a Halifax county boy who has been one of the sensations of the training season, and in two and two-third innings slashed out six safe hits and scored nine runs. M. Darden was called to the bench to be replaced by Pittsen, who was powerless before the onslaught, and he gave up five hits and four runs before the curtain was rung down on his one and a fraction innings.

The final score was 15 to 7. Never once did the Buchmen give up or relent in the fight and though the champs first string southpaw held them in his grasp, with one safe away in five innings, the visitors bided their time and fell to the locals' rookie pitchers with an onslaught that turned an otherwise good ball game into a farce from the standpoint of the local supporter. The Raleigh club, under the able direction of Heiney Busch, indicated quite clearly today that they can wage an uphill fight and win and that they are not to be counted out until the game is over and the gates closed.

CAROLINA DEFEATS WOFFORD IN RATHER LISTLESS GAME
Chapel Hill, N. C., April 13.—Carolina defeated Wofford College here today, 3 to 1, in a rather listless game. The weather being of mid summer variety, was not very conducive to speed or fast playing. The crowd augmented by high school debaters and other visitors probably totalled 3,500.

Powell's home run, the hitting of Barnes and Bennett, the pitching of Aycock and pretty catches by Wiggins Kirkwood and Moore, of Wofford, featured the game.

Laxton, of Charlotte; I. L. Graves, of Knoxville, and William Wallace, of Richmond, all won their matches and will contest tomorrow for entrance to the semi-finals. All the other flights were hotly contested, and the tournament is easily proving the most successful in the history of Asheville.

LINER RYNDAM WILL SAIL AFTER TEN DAYS' DELAY.

Dutch Crew Strikes, Demanding Assurance of Safety at Sea.
New York, April 13.—The Holland America Line steamship Ryndam, held in Rotterdam for ten days over her announced sailing date by a strike of her crew, will sail tomorrow for New York, according to a cablegram received by agents of the line here today. The strike brought about by the crew's demand that the Dutch government assure their safety at sea. The line, just prior to receiving word that the Ryndam would sail, announced that all advertised sailing dates of their ships had been temporarily cancelled, due to unusual dangers from mines and submarines in the North Sea.

Chicago, April 13.—Chicago batted Dauss hard today and won from Detroit 6 to 3, though a ninth inning rally in which Cobb cleared the bases with a double, counted five runs for the visitors. Up to the ninth Danforth had Detroit practically helpless. Manager Jennings repeatedly called attention to the Chicago pitcher's habit of rubbing the ball on his clothes, but Umpire O'Loughlin failed to find on it any indication that a variety of the "emery" ball was being used.

MRS. KIRKMAN HOPES TO PAVE A HEALTH ROUTE

Tells How Tanlac Has Made Her Feel Better Than in Ten Years.

"I sincerely hope that word of my gratifying experience with Tanlac will pave the way to restored happiness for women who suffer near as much as I have," is the humanitarian spirit that prompts Mrs. Maude Kirkman to offer her endorsement of the Master Medicine's superlative reconstructive powers.

From infancy until a short time ago, when Mrs. Kirkman began on Tanlac, she suffered from catarrh. The effects of this dreadful inflammatory affection of the mucous membranes on Mrs. Kirkman is told here just as she explained to the Tanlac Man. "This disease became so bad during the past six months, notwithstanding my having tried everything, it seemed, without relief, that I was generally rundown. It had sapped my appetite and good sleep and made me extremely nervous."

"I heard Tanlac so well recommended that my conscience would allow me no rest until I tried it. I was helped tremendously by the first bottle of Tanlac. My appetite has returned; I sleep well again; I gain steadily in weight and strength, and on the whole feel better than at any time during the past ten years. I am continuing the treatment and feel that the full course of six bottles will see me a cured woman."

Mrs. Kirkman is the wife of J. H. Kirkman, well known Winston-Salem plumber. Regarding her story, E. H. Drum said: "Tanlac builds health through the blood and nerves, banishing health impurities, and is an ideal spring tonic, appetizer, blood purifier and invigorant."

at the Delgado Cotton Mills. Dr. Chapman, Mr. Alexander and members of the evangelistic party were welcomed at the mill by Dr. James Sprunt, Mr. E. G. Holt, president of the mill, Mr. W. A. Woods, superintendent, and Rev. A. J. Howell and Mrs. Howell. The service was held out of doors, the employees gathered on the grass at the side of the office building, and Mr. Alexander using the porch as an improvised platform began his all-franco song service with the chorus "Shine."

Selecting some half dozen little girls from the audience he asked them to sing it, and the shrill young voices ringing out in the clear morning air sent a thrill to all hearts. A verse or two from the well-known hymn "Shall We Gather at the River," and the chorus of "Will You Take Jesus Today?" completed the first part of the service. Dr. Chapman's fifteen minute address based on the story of the Philippian jailer was a powerful practical message of the way of life that held his audience in its picturesque setting, in closest attention. He brought his message to a close with an invitation to the people of the Delgado Cotton Mills to come in a delegation to the Tabernacle, where he assured them they would receive a warm welcome.

Dr. Chapman's evening sermon. The message for last night's sermon by Dr. Chapman was found in the second verse of Psalm 142. "No man cares for my soul," was the text of the evening sermon. Dr. Chapman said in part: "I believe there are hundreds of men today on the streets of this city who have a right to say, 'No man cares for my soul.' But some of you may say, 'We have a church, and the doors are wide open. We have a minister, and his message is true.' Yet the average man who is in church and listens to the preacher does not count the appeal as personally to him. He somehow thinks our appeal is professional, and he sits in the pew and says, 'That's not my business. I came into my church in Philadelphia to worship with us through the summer while his family were in the mountains. I made a rule in church to allow a man to come into the church that I did not speak to him about his soul. This man was one of the greatest newspaper editors in America. I called at his office, and his private office, and as I took him by the hand I said, 'I have come to ask you to be a Christian.' He looked at me in amazement, and I said, 'I am not asking you to join my church, but to be a Christian.' He drew his hand out of mine, and turning deliberately away from me, he walked up to a picture in a window that looked out on one of the busiest streets of Philadelphia, and he stood for fully ten minutes looking out. I thought I had grieved him, and I stood there in the greatest embarrassment. Finally he came back and took me by the hand. His face was wet with tears, and he could scarcely speak for emotion. He said, 'Thank you, sir; with the exception of my mother, when I was a little bit of a boy at her knee, nobody in this world—not even a minister—not in all my life has anybody ever asked me to be a Christian.' Then, sinking back into the chair by his side, he said, 'These words, which I almost identical with the words of the text, 'I thought no one cared!'

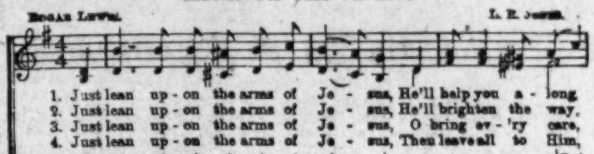

"Such men as this city—men in deepest need; men with sore, aching hearts. I make no plea for fanaticism, but I make a plea for natural conversion concerning Jesus, which grows out of the conception of the fact that this text is true, and that men are in danger. One of the ministers in a New York city said to me, 'I want you to go and speak to Mr. So-and-so, a banker.' I said, 'Do you think it would be wise? He does not know me, and would doubtless think it an intrusion.' 'Well, he said, 'come along, anyway.' We went into the banker's private office, and I said, 'My friend here thinks I ought to ask you to be a Christian.' As he did not answer, I said, 'I want to make the most personal appeal possible. My friend tells me your mother was a Christian.' 'Yes, sir,' he said, 'she was. Well, I make an appeal in her name.' He rose to bow me out of the office, and as he did so he said, 'I must say that I appreciate your coming here, and I have an entire conversation, and I thought I had failed. He was a banker in the city of Rochester, New York. But when I saw him come down the side aisle, with every eye fastened upon him, and when I saw him stand in front of 3,000 people, and hear him say, 'I am a Christian,' I had more confidence in him than I had in any man I had ever received to be a Christian.' I was never more moved in my life. Oh that we had more confidence in our eyes, a concern that would win not only this city, but would go far towards winning the State for Jesus.

"No man cares for my soul." But listen; I do not like a man to tell me that the minister's preaching is profane; I do not like him to say that the fact that we are not ready to speak out as Christians proves our indifference. I think there is an explanation. We have a feeling, as Christians that we are unworthy; we know we have failed in the past. The father does not dare to speak to his boy because he has been inconsistent; the mother does not dare to speak to her girl because she has been unworthy; the business man does not dare to speak to his partner, because he has not acted rightly before him in business. There are women in this audience who know that if they should go to their husband and children and ask them to come to Christ they would first have to say, 'You must forgive my inconsistency.' But if a confession is necessary, the make it. If you have an unrepentant boy, or girl, or friend, who knows you are a Christian, and you have gone through the years without speaking to them about their soul, you may take it for granted that they have written you down as inconsistent. I was holding a meeting and a man came up and said, 'Will you pray for my brother?' I said, 'Certainly.' He said, 'But do not speak to him, for he is an infidel.' A little later this very man came into my room, and after transacting a bit of business with him, he said, 'Mr. B. I want to ask you to be a Christian. It means everything to me. I am a better man because I am a Christian, and I am a better husband and a better father because I am a Christian.' Then I think the tears came into my eyes, because I was so drawn towards this young business man, and I said to myself, 'God I could lead you to Christ today.'

Left Room. "He shook my hand off his shoulder, rushed to the door, and was gone," said to myself, 'Well, his brother knew best,' and I was still standing in the room when the door opened and he came in again. His face was wet with tears, and he stood fully a minute before he could speak. Then

TABERNACLE NOTES

"If I could bring to you today some conception of what it means to pray I could put in your hands a key that can unlock the richest storehouse of blessing and power."—Dr. Chapman at the afternoon service.

This morning at 10 o'clock the first of the morning services in the home will be held at the residence of Dr. James Sprunt. Mr. Alexander will conduct short song service and Dr. Chapman will deliver a brief address.

By the liberal sprinkling of red-covered books throughout the evening audience, it was apparent that all people had come prepared to sing, and many of them sang with an enthusiasm which they themselves would scarcely have believed possible. Dr. Alexander's manner wins all hearts. Whether he be scolding or commending them, the audience is equally pleased. We want to get everybody in your city singing these Gospel hymns," he said. "It will not only make you better, but it will make your city a better place to live in."

One of the most interested, and certainly one of the most attentive sections of the audience, is that occupied night after night by the ministers of the platform. Dr. Chapman is a minister's friend, and between the evangelist and the pastors of the city there has sprung up a strong bond of sympathy. His aim is to spread and desire to do and strengthen the pastor in his particular sphere of labor. "If, when we come to the close of these meetings," said Dr. Chapman, "it is easier for the minister to preach, and we shall consider that our work has not been in vain."

Charles M. Alexander, with his gift of song, his sunny disposition, and his healthy optimism, brings a note of joy into the work. It is impossible for anyone, during his song service, to feel gloomy or depressed. His peculiar genius which enables him to make a crowd forget its momentary troubles under the uplifting influence of Gospel songs, is a rare and precious gift. But in the tactful hands of the song leader it becomes a powerful agency for the extension of the Kingdom.

"These Gospel choruses have hooks in them. Get them into your mind, and they will stay there. It is like hanging a picture in your brain. You will never forget it if you live fifty years from now."—Alexanderism.

The first task of a preacher or public speaker is to grasp the attention and bespeak the sympathy of the crowd he faces. Dr. Chapman appears to accomplish this task. He utters a word which has already captured the hearts of the people of Wilmington. He preaches with power the gospel of Jesus Christ; and while the fidelity and college told us you were a Christian. My mother said, 'Jack, you shall have the room with him; and he will speak to you,' and he said, 'there has not been a night that I have not wished to see you through and through, and I would like to lead you to Jesus; but he put off his hand and said, 'It is all right, but it is too late, for another day has brought me to Jesus. The next year he died of scarlet fever, but he will never be a star in my crown. Believe me, men do care to be spoken to. I want to tap at the study door, and I said, 'Come in, man came in, staggered across the room, dropped on the couch, and sobbed and sobbed. Then he lifted his head and said, 'Will you come to the house? The children are crying their eyes out, their mother is dead!'

"Yes, I will come," and as we walked up to his house, I said, 'It is not about time you found Jesus! He had preached to that man for two years without any result, but as he staggered across the room, with tears blinding his eyes, he said, 'Yes, I will come.' Whenever a man is in trouble whenever there is a great awakening, the man who is troubling the pool, bring your friend and let them see the light. Listen, and I will turn the text around. The world does not care for your soul. The devil will charm you, and at last he will lead you down to the pleasure of sin is gone, the fascination is lost, and the charm is forgotten, you will cry out, 'Oh wretched man, who has led me to this? Deliver me from the body of this death!'

At last night's meeting Dr. Chapman read a telegram which had just been received from Washington. It was from the evangelists recently conducted meetings. The telegram was from the ushers who officiated at the Tabernacle last night, and was addressed to Dr. Chapman and Mr. Alexander. The message read: "The Tabernacle ushers of Washington, Pa., at their banquet tonight send you greetings, and pray for your success in Wilmington."

The "Sunbeam" are never caught napping. They love to sing, and never seem to get too much of it. It is their custom to start a chorus a couple of beats ahead of everybody else, and they usually finish half a bar behind the fact that they strike a pitch nearly half a tone higher than the rest of the audience does not in any way affect the heartiness of their singing, or diminish in the slightest their never-failing fund of high spirits.

Two delegations were welcomed at the Tabernacle last night. The Committee of One Hundred, who attended in full strength with some 50 or 60 delegates, again rendered a hearty greeting from the audience. In the center of the Tabernacle was a large reserved section, which was entirely filled by the men of the Presbyterian and Episcopal churches of the city, and this delegation also met with a hearty welcome.

The most striking feature in the musical part of the service was the singing of the well known hymn "Alas and Pity of the Sinner," by the colored delegation from the Cape Fear Presbytery. As the tenor and bass voices, blended in perfect harmony, rolled out the words: "But drops of grief can ne'er repay The debt of love I owe," they were tears in many eyes, and Mr. Alexander asked that the delegation might repeat the verse.

Miss Anna Trout, chairman of the committee for young women, announces that at next Thursday evening before the service at the Tabernacle there will be a special service at the First Presbyterian church for business girls when Mrs. Charles M. Alexander will make a short address. Supper will also be served. Invitations to the meeting will be delivered personally this afternoon.

Mr. H. E. Bonits, the architect, who designed the Tabernacle, has been constantly on the job looking after every detail in seeing that the building is

CHAPMANISMS

Without Christ, we are lost.

There is only one way to be saved, and that is to put our trust in a crucified and risen redeemer.

What shall it profit a man, if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?

Our soul is worth more than all the world, according to the teaching of Jesus.

It seems very strange that we should be concerned because of the physical condition of people, and indifferent to their spiritual interests.

Many unsaved people have a right to say—"no man cares for my soul."

Preaching is not enough—personal interest is demanded.

The average man does not consider a sermon as a personal invitation.

Many times our lips are sealed as Christians because we feel ourselves to be unworthy.

If we do not speak to those about us concerning Christ, we are inconsistent.

Thousands of people in this city would be won to Christ if the Church could be aroused to personal effort.

It is a great mistake to think that men do not care to talk about Christ. In all my life I have been resisted but once in my personal appeals.

When one is in trouble, he is easily open to approach concerning Christ.

When there is a great awakening on, a fine opportunity is offered to speak for the Master.

The world doesn't care for one's soul and never satisfies it.

Satan doesn't care for one's soul except to get it and damn it. Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation.

If you should die tonight without accepting Christ, you would be lost.

No amount of gifts to charity can save your soul.

No works of righteousness can atone for past sins.

No reformation can undo the wrongs of your past life.

It is a sad thing to live together as households here and be separated in the hereafter.

God cares for your soul; the Church cares; the ministers care. You may be saved, if you will.

—From Sermon by Dr. Chapman, at Tabernacle last night.

courage with which he denounces sin never wavers, his teaching is leavened by a strong element of compassion. He is constantly pointing out the way of escape—the Door of Salvation.

Henry Barracough, pianist, and Albert Brown, soloist, form the "long and short" of the Chapman-Alexander party. While Mr. Brown measures six feet three in his shoes, a tape sixty-two inches long would span Mr. Barracough. Both are energetic and competent musicians, and together they make up eleven feet five inches of concentrated harmony.

"The reason why some of us do not get answers to our prayers is because our wills do not articulate with His. Our plans go contrary to His. It is when God has all there is of us, and is laid at His feet, that He can trust us," said Dr. Chapman in the closing address of his series on Prayer at the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon. It was a sermon that had running through it like a silver cord the preacher's firm conviction and belief in the fact that God does answer prayer.

The Committee of the Chapman-Alexander campaign have requested that automobiles should not be parked on the street between Third and Fourth streets, as a congestion of vehicles on this section will interfere with the crowds entering and leaving the building. Machines may be parked on the street beyond Third and Fourth, or on any of the side streets.

At last night's meeting Dr. Chapman read a telegram which had just been received from Washington. It was from the evangelists recently conducted meetings. The telegram was from the ushers who officiated at the Tabernacle last night, and was addressed to Dr. Chapman and Mr. Alexander. The message read: "The Tabernacle ushers of Washington, Pa., at their banquet tonight send you greetings, and pray for your success in Wilmington."

The "Sunbeam" are never caught napping. They love to sing, and never seem to get too much of it. It is their custom to start a chorus a couple of beats ahead of everybody else, and they usually finish half a bar behind the fact that they strike a pitch nearly half a tone higher than the rest of the audience does not in any way affect the heartiness of their singing, or diminish in the slightest their never-failing fund of high spirits.

Two delegations were welcomed at the Tabernacle last night. The Committee of One Hundred, who attended in full strength with some 50 or 60 delegates, again rendered a hearty greeting from the audience. In the center of the Tabernacle was a large reserved section, which was entirely filled by the men of the Presbyterian and Episcopal churches of the city, and this delegation also met with a hearty welcome.

The most striking feature in the musical part of the service was the singing of the well known hymn "Alas and Pity of the Sinner," by the colored delegation from the Cape Fear Presbytery. As the tenor and bass voices, blended in perfect harmony, rolled out the words: "But drops of grief can ne'er repay The debt of love I owe," they were tears in many eyes, and Mr. Alexander asked that the delegation might repeat the verse.

Miss Anna Trout, chairman of the committee for young women, announces that at next Thursday evening before the service at the Tabernacle there will be a special service at the First Presbyterian church for business girls when Mrs. Charles M. Alexander will make a short address. Supper will also be served. Invitations to the meeting will be delivered personally this afternoon.

Mr. H. E. Bonits, the architect, who designed the Tabernacle, has been constantly on the job looking after every detail in seeing that the building is

Try them. Foley Kidney Pills will do for other men and women—quickly—what they have done for Mrs. Strayhorn.

"Last year, I got almost down with my back," writes Mrs. H. T. Strayhorn of Gainesville, Ga. "I suffered from inflammation of the bladder, and whenever I stopped doctoring I grew worse. I tried Foley Kidney Pills, and after taking one day the pain in my bladder action became regular and the aching sensation disappeared. I am now stronger in my back than I've been for several years, and since getting well, I've stayed well and had no return of the trouble."

Start in now to use Foley Kidney Pills. You will feel an improvement from the very first doses, showing how quickly they act on kidneys and bladder. They stop irregular urinary action, ease pain in back and sides, limber up stiff joints and aching muscles. They put the kidneys and bladder in good, healthy condition. Try them.

WHAT WEAK WOMEN NEED

We Have It In A Remedy Containing the Three Oldest and Most Famous Tonics Known.

Vinoli contains the three oldest and most famous tonics known to medicine, viz.—the medicinal extractives of fresh cod livers, without oil, peptonate of iron and beef peptone.

That is why Vinoli is such a wonderful remedy for weak, run-down persons, feeble old people, delicate children, and to restore strength after sickness. Read this testimony: Savannah, Ga. "I was weak, nervous, run-down, had no appetite, and could not sleep. I had tried medicines without any benefit, and one day the nurse asked me to try Vinoli. I did so, and it made me feel like a new woman. It has restored my strength and I can do all my own housework. I would not take anything for the good Vinoli has done me." Sarah White.

We return money in every case where Vinoli fails to benefit the purchaser. Robert R. Bellamy, Druggist, Wilmington, N. C.

WHY HE DOES IT.

Druggist J. Hicks Bunting Gives Reasons for Selling at Half-Price.

It isn't often that we have faith enough in the medicines put up by other people to be willing to offer to refund the money if it does not cure, said druggist J. Hicks Bunting to one of his many customers, "but we are glad to sell Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia on that plan."

"The Dr. Howard Co. in order to get a quick introductory sale authorized us to sell the regular fifty cent bottle of their specific for half price, 25 cents, and although we have sold a lot of it, and guaranteed every package, not one has been brought back as unsatisfactory."

"We are still selling the specific at half price, although we cannot tell how long we shall be able to do so. Any person who is subject to constipation, sick headache, dizziness, liver trouble, indigestion or a general played out condition, ought to take advantage of this opportunity. If the specific does not cure them, they can come right back to our store and we will cheerfully refund their money."

Chapman-Alexander
Meetings

The great Chapman-Alexander meetings having already begun in Wilmington and a large number of people having availed themselves of the reduced rate of 60 cents offered for daily subscription for the six weeks covering the opening and close of the meeting, it has now been decided for those who are non-subscribers and have not yet sent in their subscription to send the paper for the remaining five weeks of the meeting at only 50 cents, until the close of the series. This is lower than our regular rates, but the paper desires to assist in giving full scope to the influence of the meetings and at the same time in this way to answer many inquiries for special subscription rates to the paper during this period. If you wish the paper yourself or sent to a friend during this period, 50 cents enclosed in an envelope or left at the office will ensure proper delivery of the paper to any address.

FRIDAY, APRIL 14, 1916.

TOP OF THE MORNING.

Our ideals change us. They change
the face. The refining, gentling process is going on all the time, though unknown to us. —S. D. G.

Something like a disturbance seems to be indicated about June 7th in Chicago.

It might take a long time to catch Villa, but it would not take much time to do the rest.

Villa must have found the leg he lost. He keeps on running away from Colonel Dodd.

What has become of the old-fashioned Southern gentlemen who used to call each other a swashbuckler?

The Big Business dinner given to Col. Theodore Roosevelt before he went to the West Indies is having its effect.

Of course, the Republicans should register, else they cannot vote for Wilson as a protest against the nomination of Roosevelt.

Whenever other men get to laying plans to get the best of our crowd they are nothing but a lot of conspirators
who bear watching.

In attempting to regulate insurance
by legislation a lot of South Carolinians will recognize the fact that in some matters common sense is more effective than law.

Republicans who used to call the Bull Moose a "arch traitor" to the party of Abraham Lincoln will soon be pointing to him as the Moses of the G. O. P.

Some people win by playing the game while you are asleep. When God hangs out the great orb which makes it day they get up and work by it until it goes down and gives them a chance to rest.

Sleepy towns in the South hate to have their rest disturbed. When a sound sleeper is waked up he raises Cain, and so will a town which has enough mossbacks to enjoy its slow creeps.

Teddy is opposed to every Republican who is an aspirant for the Republican nomination for President. The Chicago convention will have to nominate him in order to have a candidate
that the Colonel will approve.

The Hon. Joseph H. Choate says
"Roosevelt has been tried and found wanting." It really seems that he is always wanting to be tried and never will be satisfied with an acquittal. It is up to the Republicans to cook his goose instead of letting him cook theirs.

Says the Chester (Pa.) Republican:
"The American people are trying to solve what the meeting between former President Roosevelt, Senator Root and Senator Lodge will result in as to the future of the Republican party and the good of the Nation." Seems as if Big Business is more interested than the Nation. The Nation hasn't bothered itself by giving a dinner to any of those named saviors but Big Business has. What the Nation needs most is to be saved from some of its friends.

Says the New Armenian magazine,
a New York publication: "The declaration of Grand Duke Nicholas, after the occupation of Erzerum, that he would hold the Turkish officials, civil and military, personally responsible for the Armenian massacres, must have exerted
a sobering influence on the bloodthirsty Mohammedans. Besides, the New York Sun is informed that a Russian aeroplane has flown over Constantinople and dropped hundreds of thousands of leaflets announcing in the Turkish, Armenian, Greek, Kurdish and Arabic languages that every Christian massacred by the Moslems would be avenged by the execution of two Moslems." How could a pagan differentiate between Mohammedan atrocities inspired by fanaticism and Christian atrocities instigated by revenge?

BUILDING UP FROM THE OUTSIDE.

While a city can build up from the inside in an industrial and commercial way, it also can build up from the outside by the development of its back country or its tributary territory for a radius of a hundred miles. Most booster organizations confine their activities to the city, but the opportunities for building up from the outside are just as great. Southern cities are waking up to that fact and, consequently, are making the country's business their business.

Around Wilmington there is a vast waste of fertile but idle lands, embracing in New Hanover, Brunswick, Bladen, Pender and other counties, and any development in each contributes to the development of Wilmington as the clearing house for the richest section of the State. Wilmington gets some benefit from every farm and every factory,
and every settler in the tributary territory to this city as a wholesale and retail center.

That is recognized, of course. Has Wilmington any plans by which it can co-operate with the contiguous counties in their development? Hundreds of thousands of farms near Wilmington would be directly to the benefit of this city, and Wilmington should lose no opportunity to encourage and co-operate in any movement to develop the section of which she is the commercial center.

Many cities are not leaving it to their environs to take the initiative, but are carrying plans to them and enlisting
their interest in making progress along many lines. All the counties around Wilmington would welcome home-seekers and settlers, but they have no plans of their own for attracting or securing them. It would be constructive work for Wilmington to join them in any movement for their upbuilding. Doubtless if the enterprising men in the various counties were approached on the subject and were sure of Wilmington's co-operation, many plans for development could be set on foot in the next twelve months.

Wilmington ought to help the different counties to convert their idle lands into good farms. The counties and the State need more thrifty people, and hundreds of home-seekers could be attracted by the methods that some cities and communities have adopted. The soil is here, but the tillers are lacking. Nevertheless, they can be secured just as other portions of the country are securing them. Farms companies and farms colonies can be organized in each county and systematic plans for securing good families can be carried out. There isn't any theory about it, for it is a common thing in the West and in Canada.

The Savannah Morning News wants to know what are the reasons that Chatham county cannot get hundreds of good farmer families to build up Savannah "from the outside." Certainly there is a fine opportunity and a fine
field for it, and some of Savannah's leading men seem to be interested in the proposition. One citizen alone, Mr.
Willis B. Lane, repeats an offer to finance for one year twenty families to settle in the county and develop its agricultural possibilities. That is a good offer, and doubtless the twenty families will soon be forthcoming were his proposition made in the right way. If he will organize a farms company and go at it right he will soon get the families to accept the kind of assistance he offers. Thousands of people are looking for just such an opportunity, and they would be glad to get them near Wilmington or Savannah or any other place where the opportunities for success are beyond doubt.

HUERTA'S REPUBLICAN FRIENDS.

Huerta's Republican friends make us laugh. We can't help it. They are so down on "watchful waiting" that they refuse to acknowledge that it is succeeding. For that reason they no doubt regret to see Carranza co-operating with the Wilson administration in the chase of Villa, instead of his being unwise enough to have resisted and brought on intervention. Even at that they won't do justice to Carranza but hark back to Huerta, as if he ever had more power than Carranza. Republican papers generally do that, and the Chester (Pa.) Republican speaks about like all of them when it says:

"Villa seems to have gotten away.
We never did think those Mexicans could allow this man to be captured by American soldiers unless sufficient troops were sent into Mexico to overpower the entire Mexican government.
No matter what we think of General
Huerta if he was president of Mexico
at the present time and had promised the United States to assist in the capture of Villa, Villa would be captured in a very short time, either dead or alive. Above all things Huerta did things."

The funny part of it is the question as to how Huerta could possibly have done anything for us when he could not keep himself on the job. He never saw the day that he had the control that Carranza has in Mexico. Of the two, Carranza has proved himself more of a master of the situation than Huerta did at any time. He even put Huerta out of business. Sure, "Huerta did things," but he did not do them long, before Carranza did him. It's a wonder that Republicans can't notice who it is that has practically pacified Mexico.

Why Carranza, who stayed in Mexico when Huerta, the strong, took his clothes and fled to Spain. Samson, as he seems to have been in the eyes of our Republican friends, he got cold feet and left Carranza the kitty.

Isn't it funny what all Huerta could have done had he remained in Mexico,
whereas he had to go because a stronger man than he was master of him and Mexico as well. When we see that Carranza is on top, we ought to know

BETTER THAN TO THINK HUERTA COULD HAVE been depended upon. He gave it up himself and left Carranza to do it.

MEN OF CONSTRUCTIVE GENIUS.

Some men seem to be born to do big things and it does not make any difference whether they were born in the country, in a village or in a city. One of the men of that kind was Mr. Lewis W. Parker, who died a few days ago at Greenville, S. C. He was only fifty-one years of age, but for years he had been doing things on a big scale in promoting the manufacturing progress of South Carolina. He was not a manufacturer by training but had a genius for organization.

Mr. Parker was a lawyer by profession and was born in the small town of Abbeville. His boyhood days were spent after the Civil War when educational and other advantages were scarce, but his genius overcame those difficulties to a large extent. While practicing law he saw opportunities in the cotton mill industry, and beginning with one mill he soon became the head of a syndicate with a string of sixteen cotton factories, with $1,700,000
spindles. The capital stock of the Parker Cotton Mills Company was $12,500,000
and it was promoted, entirely through
Mr. Parker's individual initiative. He became the leading cotton manufacturer of the South and was ranked as one of the leading manufacturers in America. He was known all over the United States and became a mill authority North as well as South.

The loss of such a man is a blow to the whole South, much less to his own city and State. He recognized the value of newspapers and one of his objects in building up a town was to see that its newspaper was encouraged and helped on account of its value to the community. Communities are indeed fortunate when they have a Parker or two in their midst.

THE ROOSEVELT BOOM.

The Roosevelt boom for the Presidential nomination at Chicago has suddenly taken on the proportions of a whirlwind at New York. Heretofore, the New York Tribune, the great standard organ of the National Republican party, has bitterly assailed the Colonel,
but yesterday it endorsed him for the nomination in a leading editorial in which the Republicans and Progressives are urged to unite and let the Bull Moose lead them to triumph.

The New York World has been predicting all along that Roosevelt will be the nominee of the Chicago convention,
and it is beginning to look that way.
Governor Whitman declared a few days ago that Wall Street is for Root,
but The World says that Wall Street has no idea that Root can get the nomination, hence it will act on its usual motive, which "never allows sentiment to interfere with business."

The World goes on to say:
"That is why it will take Roosevelt,
and try to float him into the White House on a sea of money. Wall Street wants control of Congress. It wants control of the Federal Reserve Board.
It wants control of the Federal Trade Board. It wants control of the tariff-making machinery. It wants control of the Interstate Commerce Commission. It cannot get this through a Democratic party in the hands of Wilson. It can get it through the Republican party, and while it may despise Roosevelt personally, it is willing to accept him and support him—and finance him."

That is the way the great Democratic paper interprets the outlook and evidently that paper is keeping a close eye on the programme in New York.

THE GERMAN SAID THAT NO SUBMARINE

blew up the Sussex. The Sussex was blown up by either a submarine or a mine and there were Americans on board. In either event there are a certain number of Americans who persist in taking chances on submarines and mines.

CLYDE LINE CURTAILMENT

To the Editor of The Star:
It is with a great deal of disqual, to say nothing of disappointment that the writer reads in this morning's paper of the contemplated curtailment of the service of the Clyde Line between this port and New York. This, too, right on top of the discontinuance of the service of the Baltimore & Carolina
Line. What are we coming to next?
Are the business men of the city going to sit idly by and let the railroads bottle us up. Why not petition Congress to cancel the award of the contract for the new customs House
and use this money in building a dam
across the Cape Fear so as to better enable us to shut up shop and quit!

As for the discontinuance of the service of the Baltimore & Carolina
Line, what is all of that docks lying between Ann and Nun streets lying there for? Could not the owners be induced to lease this to the B. & O.
ple if the proper effort were made to bring about this result? Not necessarily this location, though, for there are other places that should be available. It is very much hoped that this new disgrace is not going to be allowed,
by one who takes the liberty of
signing himself,

YOUNG PROGRESSIVE

CURRENT COMMENT

Mr. Junius Davis was a conspicuous representative of the North Carolina judiciary in the days when there were legal giants in the land. Sprung from a family renowned in name and accomplishments, he clung throughout to the best traditions of the Old South and Southern chivalry. By inheritance and training, there were few men in the South better equipped for the bar, and on the legal records of his life he placed his name in an honored place. He was never a seeker for political advancement, despite the fact that in the course of his long and notable career he was often open to him for position of influence and power. He was wedded to his profession and his greatest ambition was to do his work well—the service of God and his fellowman. The depletion of his class in North Carolina is now almost complete, and more's the pity—Charlotte Observer.

In the death of Hon. Junius Davis, of Wilmington the State loses one of its best citizens, one of its most distinguished attorneys. In the seventy-one years which God had granted him he won place high in the esteem of the people of the State, one of the most honored citizens of Wilmington. Mr.

Davis, who was born in 1845, was a son of the late Hon. George Davis, of Wilmington, Attorney General in the Cabinet of President Jefferson Davis, of the Confederate States, a man whose virtues reflected in the life of his patriotic son who enlisted in the Confederate service at the age of eighteen.
Both distinguished lawyers, the Davis family is still represented at the bar of Wilmington in the son of Hon. Junius
Davis, Mr. Thomas W. Davis, an attorney of ability, learning and force, the secretary and treasurer of the North Carolina Bar Association. The sympathy of a great host of friends goes out to the bereaved family who have a noble heritage in the record of the life of Junius Davis, a citizen of whom North Carolina was justly proud.—Raleigh News and Observer.

In spite of disquieting reports, there is evidence of reconstruction in Mexico, First Chief Carranza is devoting himself to the problem presented by ruined credit and depreciated currency.
Gen. Gonzalez, in command at the capital, is perfecting measures for the regulation of prices and in addresses to the farmers is urging the immediate resumption of agricultural operations. Railroad traffic between Mexico City and Vera Cruz has been restored. An order has been issued for all military commanders requiring them to enforce the decrees of the courts. An agrarian commission is in session preparing an agronomic scheme of land reform.
Many of our interests in the country
will be profoundly pained by these symptoms of progress, but more especially so by the last-mentioned enterprise. Land reform means the overthrow of the old regime, and the fact that it is being worked out in true American fashion by a commission will convince most of the number of our people are strong for holding over from the old regimes that unless Villa, Zapata and Felix Diaz can do something pretty soon, all is lost.—

Warsaw, N. C., April 13.—Mr. R. B.

interest of Mr. T. W. Bickett's candi-

Away After Long Illness.

(Special Star Correspondence.)
Warsaw, N. C., April 13.—Mrs. Isason early this morning, in the 90th year of her age. She had suffered for a number of years, and had been constantly bed-ridden since suffering an attack of pneumonia several months ago. She was a devout member of the Methodist church, and bore all her sufferings with patience. The deceased is survived by two sons, J. W. and J. Walter and Charles Johnson, and one daughter, Mrs. J. W. Bland, all of War-

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

THE CRISIS.
In pneumonia and some other acute illnesses there is a time, in most cases, when the high fever disappears
and the patient experiences marked relief from the symptoms he has been suffering. This sudden disappearance of the fever is called the crisis. It is eagerly welcomed, and by no means a fearful event. The word crisis, as thus applied, is not the same as the crisis of a battle or some great movement. The crisis of pneumonia is favorable in itself, always. It occurs at any time from the third to the twelfth day.

Why the crisis?
It occurs in a few hours, perhaps ten or fifteen hours—the temperature drops from 103 degrees or 104 degrees or higher down to normal or two or three degrees below the normal 98 degrees. A profuse sweat accompanies the fall in temperature. All of this is a distinct relief to patient and physician. There is no particular reason why a change for the worse should be feared at or near the time of the crisis.
Indeed, if the patient can weather his relapse up to the crisis—that is, if a relapse is his luck lot—then he will in all probability come through a winner.
provided he has not squandered his substance in wrong living.

The crisis, when the blood has mobilized sufficient antitoxin or antitoxin to overcome or neutralize
the poisons produced by the pneumococcus (the germ) which have invaded the lung. The critical sweat carries out a tremendous quantity of poison. Hence, physicians endeavor to take a hint and apply hot mustard foot-baths or other measures to maintain or encourage sweating in the course of pneumonia and other illnesses.

Be Consistent

By Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D.

Consistency is a jewel, so they say, but also, it is too often a rare one.

The lack of it kills influence. It is not what we say, but what we are that counts. When lives ring true they make such harmony that the world takes note of what we say.

There is no prevailing argument against consistency. The sufferer may answer an argument; a true life is beyond his power of attack. The world is waiting for consistency, and is never unmoved in its presence.

Be consistent in your home. Many a child has gone astray because of the lack of it, and many a man dates his downfall from the day when inconsistency harmed him.

Be consistent in your business. Apply the golden rule. Treat your employe as you wished to be treated when you were in a similar position. Treat your employer as you would like to be treated were you in his place.

Be consistent in your belief. Don't count a sneer an argument. Don't treat the Bible as you would scorn to treat a work on science or philosophy. Don't think that you have dismissed Christ because you have not accepted Him. He is still before you for consideration, and will be until the judgment.

Be consistent in your church. You cannot hide hypocrisy nor cover worldliness. The world estimates your worth and rarely makes a mistake. Be what you ought to be, what you promise to be, what God meant you should be. Be consistent. Confess your failure. Make the wrong of your life right. Keep your record clean.

TO ASCERTAIN WANTS OF BALTIMORE LINE

Chamber Names Committee to Learn Specific Requirements

Will Give Banquet to Railroad and Steamship Lines' Officials—Principal Street Improvement in Abeyance.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon, a special committee consisting of Messrs. C. D. Maffitt, Charles E. Price and F. E. Haskagen was appointed to confer with the officials of the Baltimore & Carolina Steamship Company and ascertain specifically what are its requirements in the way of terminal facilities and co-operation on the part of the railroad as a prerequisite to a continuance of the service of its line between Wilmington and Baltimore. The committee is authorized to go to Baltimore, if necessary, to confer with the officials and learn specifically what the company desires at the hands of the city, the Chamber, the business interests of Wilmington and the railroads connected with this port.

At the same meeting the Chamber adopted a resolution offered by Mr. Thomas E. Cooper that a banquet be given by the organization to the officials of the Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard Air Line railroad companies and the Clyde Line and Baltimore & Carolina steamship companies, the banquet to be given at some convenient date in the near future.

The Chamber also, after considerable discussion, re-referred to the committees on Streets and Wharves and Civic Improvements their report on the proposed improvement of Princess street between Tenth and Seventeenth, for further consideration, the report in the form submitted by the committees being opposed by a number of members of the Chamber on the ground that its adoption would place the body in the attitude of pointing out the necessity for the improvement, and then being willing to defer it until the convenience of the Tidewater Power Company and the city officials, the report stating that the committees deemed it not advisable to press the matter at present.

Chamber Ready to Help.

The special committee to confer with the Baltimore & Carolina Steamship Company officials was appointed following considerable more or less animated discussion of the decision of the company to discontinue its service to Wilmington, ostensibly because of its inability to secure adequate terminal and dock facilities here. Some of the members of the Chamber were of the opinion that the steamship company desired to leave Wilmington because it had an opportunity to use its steamships more profitably elsewhere, under present world conditions, but desired to place the burden upon Wilmington interests in order that it might "come back" with good grace when other fields become less profitable. This idea was expressed by Frederick L. E. Hall, as his personal opinion, after he had reviewed the correspondence in the matter, which the Chamber has on file. He said that the steamship company had never submitted to the Chamber of Commerce any specific action that it desired the body to take in the matter, after the Chamber had given assurance that it was ready and willing to co-operate with the company in any way possible to assist it in securing terminal facilities and co-operation to enable it to do a profitable business here.

Mr. John G. McCormick called attention to an editorial which recently appeared in the Rocky Mount Telegram pointing out that the Goldsboro Chamber of Commerce was the only commercial body in Eastern Carolina that had joined the Baltimore & Carolina Company in its efforts to secure relief from alleged discrimination on the part of the railroads and port interests in this State. A motion by him was carried to the effect that the editorial in question be referred to the Traffic committee of the Chamber to the end that it might, with the facts at its disposal, report to the Rocky Mount paper's allegation.

Messrs. Maffitt and Price were very positive in their opinion that the Baltimore & Carolina Steamship Company desired to continue business at Wilmington if adequate terminal facilities and co-operation on the part of the railroads could be secured. Mr. Maffitt pointed out that the company used by the company are out of repair, so that railroad cars cannot be run out on the wharf and that the company is having new steamers built, one especially for the Wilmington line, begun before the company decided to discontinue its service here. He declared that water front improvement is needed here; not "back-ter" improvement. Mr. Price said he was sure the Baltimore line would be continued here if Wilmington business interests would make the proper assistance and co-operation and moved the appointment of a special committee to take up the matter.

Mr. E. P. Bailey thought that the committee ought to go to Baltimore, if necessary, to confer with the officials of the B. & C. line and his suggestion was adopted. Mr. F. E. Haskagen called attention to the current rumors to the effect that the Seaboard and Atlantic Coast Line railroads and Clyde Line had combined to run the Baltimore line out of Wilmington and declared that while he had no authoritative information to substantiate this, he was inclined to believe that it was true. He urged that every member of the Chamber would get together to work for Wilmington and not for any particular interest.

On motion of Mr. John J. Blair, President Hall was authorized to appoint a special committee to draw up resolutions in memory of Hon. Junius Davis.

Mr. E. T. Taylor, Jr., chairman of the Entertainment committee, extended an invitation to the members of the Chamber to attend an oyster roast at Airlee-on-the-Sound next Tuesday in honor of the meeting of the association of the National Fisheries Commissioners and also to attend the meetings of this organization which will be held in the auditorium of the Chamber.

Mr. Thomas E. Cooper, president of the American Bank and Trust Company, presented a resolution, which was readily adopted, following favorable remarks by Hon. John D. Bellamy, providing that the Chamber of Commerce give a banquet to the officials of the Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard Air Line railroad companies and the Clyde Line and Baltimore & Carolina steamship companies. Mr. Bellamy said he thought such an event had been already too long deferred by Wilmington. He pointed to the pro-

They were adopted unanimously by a rising vote and will be formally presented for adoption and placing on the minutes at the opening of Superior Court by Judge R. B. Peebles this morning.

Judge Peebles presided at the meeting yesterday morning and Louis J. Poisson, Esq., acted as secretary. E. S. Martin, Esq., Hon. John D. Bellamy and others made addresses, paying tribute to the memory of Mr. Davis. The resolutions presented yesterday are as follows:

"To the Members of the Bar of New Hanover County:

"Gentlemen: The Committee appointed to prepare and present suitable resolutions upon the death of Mr. Junius Davis beg leave to submit the following:

"Died, at his residence on Greenville Sound in this county, at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon of April 11, 1916, Junius Davis, Esq., the oldest member by length of service of this Bar, in the 71st year of his age.

"Mr. Davis was the son of the late Honorable George Davis, also a member of this Bar and Attorney General of the late Confederate States, and was born on the 17th day of June, 1845. He attended the schools in this city and elsewhere until the War Between the States, when he enlisted as a soldier and served until the surrender. After engaging in business for some time in 1870 he began the study of law in the office of his father and made such progress that in the following year he attained his license to practice in the courts of the State and was associated as a partner with his father until his death in 1896.

"After the death of his father, Mr. Junius Davis practiced alone for a short time, and then in association with his son, Thomas W. Davis, Esq., under the firm name of Davis & Davis, they transacted a large and lucrative business.

"Inheriting much of the talent and many of the characteristics of his father and trained by him in the details of professional work, Mr. Davis acquired the same habits of precision and thoroughness, so marked in the career of that distinguished lawyer. He early mastered the law and became an accomplished practitioner—but was chiefly notable as a wise and safe counselor and the adviser of many important and commanding corporations, as well as of many individuals.

"As a lawyer he achieved eminent success and attained high position in his profession, and, as a business man, he was much esteemed for his knowledge, sound judgment and ability.

"Mr. Davis was a man of high character and honor, inflexible honesty and strength of mind, guided by a discriminating judgment. He was a true and faithful friend; kindly in his disposition, affectionate in his nature and courteous in his manner; an honor to his profession, he loved and a valuable citizen of this city and State.

"The members of this Bar, wishing to express the sense of their high appreciation of Mr. Davis and of the great loss sustained by his death, do resolve,

"That by the death of Mr. Davis this Bar has sustained the severe loss of a valued and greatly esteemed member, a man of high and pure character, an accomplished and learned lawyer, a faithful friend and a Christian gentleman, whose death the Bar deeply deplores.

"That this city and State have lost a true, good and valuable citizen and one devoted to the promotion of their welfare and advancement.

"That the foregoing preamble and resolutions be presented to the Court at its present session, with the request that they be entered upon the minutes of the Court and that a copy thereof be sent by the Clerk of the Superior Court of New Hanover county to the family of our deceased brother.

"E. S. MARTIN, Chairman for Committee."

"Under the auspices of the 'Home, Charity and Love Society,' an open air service with Bible scenery on display will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on Market street between Front and Water.

"Among yesterday's arrivals at the Imperial Hotel were A. Anderson, Fort Caswell, Geo. T. Armstrong, Burgaw; E. W. Lyon, Elizabethtown; C. A. Russ, Shalotte.

"Among the North Carolina arrivals at the Orion yesterday were: C. D. Koonce, Chadbourne; E. D. Carrasthphen, Plymouth; G. R. Scroggins, Edmond Bullard, J. A. Fricker and W. E. WOULD SPEND NO MONEY PLANNING FOR BIG EVENT

Justice Harris Makes Suggestion to Opposing Candidates for Recorder in Letter to Them.

It having been noised around that he had sent a letter to each of the other three candidates for the nomination for the position of Recorder in 1916, approaching county primary, Justice George Harris yesterday provided the press with a copy for publication. The letter suggests that each candidate confine his expenditures of money to the amount necessary to make an announcement in the newspapers. Justice Harris sets forth at some length his reasons for taking this step, declaring that in making the race he desires so far as possible to keep the office of Recorder above unseemly conflict.

While Justice Harris stated that he had sent a copy to each of his opponents, he said he had not received any answers but was expecting to hear from them later. Following is the letter from Justice Harris:

"Hons. B. G. Empe, John J. Furlong and J. Felton Head.

"Gentlemen—As contesting candidates for the nomination for Recorder of this county before the Democratic primary on June 3rd, 1916, I address you this communication.

"From time immemorial the conservative people of this State have fostered the idea that the office of Judge was one of such dignity that it should be removed as far as possible above unseemly conflict and separated from all attempts to debauch the electorate in the customary methods of politicians. Our statute books now abound in ample provisions against the unlawful use of money, or other means, to thwart a free, full and fair expression of the popular will in the selection of public officers, and if the same are properly enforced, the time is not far distant when those elected to office will have both the legal and moral support of the masses of the people, who will act in the consciousness of the fact that their will has been recorded and those selected to discharge the duties of place and responsibility are the choice of the majority.

"As candidates for this important office we can add greatly to the accomplishment of this result by a faithful observance of the laws of the State, and an honest endeavor to repudiate any and all efforts on the part of our adherents to improperly influence support in our behalf.

"To the accomplishment of this result, I therefore suggest that we mutually pledge ourselves, and so far as we can, our adherents, not to use, or expend, in the campaign for this office a single dollar, or employ and use a single unlawful end, or means, to further our respective candidacies, with the single exception of expending money for announcement card in newspapers.

"If this pledge is strictly and honestly adhered to the beneficiary of the popular will, in the primary, will enter upon the responsibilities of office with the abiding confidence and support of the public and with every assurance of success in the administration of his office to his own satisfaction and the credit and benefit of the community.

"Very respectfully,

"WILMINGTON, N. C., April 11, 1916."

PLANNING FOR BIG EVENT

Oyster Roast at Airlee-on-the-Sound to be Enjoyable Affair—Address at Academy.

The oyster roast and luncheon in honor of Hon. William C. Redfield and the National Association of Fisheries Commissioners, Wednesday, April 19, on the grounds of the beautiful home of Mr. Pembroke Jones, known as Airlee-on-the-Sound, will be the most elaborate and enjoyable feature planned by the Entertainment Committee of the Chamber of Commerce during the convention.

A large attendance of members of the Chamber is expected. Invitations have been sent out to the entire membership of the organization and a large number of acceptances have been received. It is expected that there will be from 50 to 75 delegates present, including in addition to Secretary Redfield many well known men, who have been actively interested in the welfare of the fishing industry of the United States for a number of years.

The Entertainment Committee planned the oyster roast and luncheon with the idea in view of giving the members of the Chamber an opportunity to attend and meet the delegates, who have been given a most cordial invitation to Wilmington. Automobiles will be provided by the Entertainment Committee. The oyster roast will be served at the City Hall, leaving for the Sound promptly at 1 o'clock.

The address of Secretary Redfield at the Academy will be made on Monday of April 15, at 8 o'clock, will be another notable event during the convention and one that is expected to attract a large crowd. The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend. Secretary Redfield is one of the ablest members of the President's cabinet and an eloquent and forceful speaker who will be heard with great interest.

The business sessions of the Fisheries Convention will be held in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce and are open to the public.

MATINEE FOR CHILDREN.

Royal Theatre to Offer Another Programme of Sterling Performances.

The special children's performances, inaugurated last Saturday morning by the Royal theatre management, have already proven attractive, and despite the fact that it was raining last Saturday morning the attendance was paying tribute to the management.

The management is receiving the co-operation of the mothers of the city as well as the school authorities in selecting suitable pictures for the children.

Tomorrow morning another sterling programme of pictures, all of which have been recommended by the Woman's Industrial Council, "Better Films Committee" and by the National Board of Censors as suitable for children's entertainment, will be presented. The first is a two-reel comedy drama, "Shorty's Story," featuring the great cowboy comedian, "Shorty" Hamilton. "Intimate Study of Birds" is an interesting number in this series. "The Sultan's Paradise," a beautifully colored scenic film with attractive scenes along the Bosphorus and the Golden Horn.

Billy Deane, "The Irish Bartender" has consented to aid in entertaining the children and will sing for them "School Days," that old but still popular favorite.

RETURN FROM ROBESON.

Maj. Joseph W. Little Finds Prospects in That County Are Splendid.

Maj. Joseph W. Little returned yesterday from an extended tour of Robeson county, covering a period of a week, and saw a great many voters. He found the prospects for a strong support to be all that he desired and was pleased with the reception accorded him. On Monday night he made an address to the people of Maxton at the Carolina College and was greeted with a large audience.

Major Little found the farmers busy getting ready for planting crops. In spite of the many obstacles that the cold weather has put in the way, there is now little evidence of complaining, he states, and the farmers and business men are more optimistic.

Speaking of Major Little's visit to Lumberton last week, the Robesonian says:

Joseph W. Little, of New Hanover county, candidate for Congress, Sixth district, Mr. Little was in Lumberton Friday for the county commencement and he spent nearly all of last week in Robeson, traveling in his automobile. PLAN BIG SHAKESPEARE CELEBRATION THIS MONTH

The Literature Department of North Carolina is arranging to entertain the members of the organization at a big social meeting on April 27th which will be in the nature of a celebration of the Shakespeare Ter-Centenary. Many of the feminine characters in the plays of the Bard of Avon will be represented in costume by members of the Literature Department and entertainment along unique and novel lines is promised. It will be one of the prominent social events of the spring season in Wilmington.

Plans for the celebration were discussed at a meeting of the department yesterday afternoon after which officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Chairman, Mrs. R. A. Parale; vice chairman, Mrs. M. J. Dauer; secretary, Mrs. Frank Ross.

MISS CHARLOTTE DEW BRIDE OF MR. D. M. BORNEMANN

Friends in Wilmington yesterday learned with much interest of the marriage of Mr. Duncan M. Bornemann and Miss Charlotte Dew, both popular young people of this city, which took place yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock in Florence, S. C. Mr. and Mrs. Bornemann did not tell anyone here of their plans but quietly slipped away in the early morning train and were married immediately upon their arrival in Florence, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Dr. W. B. Oliver, pastor of the First Baptist church in that city.

Mr. Bornemann, who is a well known young business man, has been with Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for several years. Mrs. Bornemann, who formerly lived in Dallas, Texas, has been living in this city for the past year and has made many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Bornemann will return to the city about April 20th and will make their home at the Cape Fear Apartments.

—Mr. Thos. L. Johnson, of Harrell's Store, N. C., traveling salesman for a Richmond firm, was in the city yesterday, returning from a business trip to Richmond. He has many friends in Wilmington who wish him much success in his new position.

REGULATIONS FOR PRIMARY IN NEW HANOVER COUNTY

Will Be Same as for State Legislature, Although the County is Excepted.

Elsewhere in today's Star will be found the notice of the rules and regulations adopted by the Democratic Executive committee for the conducting of the county primary which will be on June 3, the same day as for the State legislative primary. While New Hanover is excepted from the State law, already having rules and regulations that are if anything more stringent, the conduct of the primary here will be almost identical.

MUST HAVE LICENSE

Junk Dealers Are Not Allowed to Make Purchases Unless They Pay Tax.

A determined movement has been inaugurated by the police and county officers against the indiscriminate buying and selling of junk. Dealers are required to have a license and this provides a convenient means of enforcing the law against those who should not be allowed to engage in the business.

Plainclothesman D. W. Coleman made several arrests yesterday of men on warrants which alleged that they have been doing a junk business without first obtaining a license. There were five arrests made, all of them being colored men. The men were taken to the city since the demand for copper and brass and other metals on account of the European war has become so great now make it a business to go around in wagons and buy up all the metal they can find. The officers are determined to stop it.

HANSON VS THE UNKNOWN

Local Grappler Will Endeavor to Even Up With Masked Marvel at Academy This Evening.

Fritz Hanson, of Wilmington, and a mysterious masked wrestler, of somewhere in the U. S. A., will meet tonight at the Academy of Music for their fourth match and the local man hopes this time to do something toward evening up with the Unknown for two defeats and one draw. The match promises to draw one of the largest houses of the season.

The Unknown is the only man of Hanson's weight who has wrestled him here and secured a victory. He not only has one, but two to his credit, and on the occasion of their first match the bout went two hours and some minutes to a draw. However, there are those among the local fans who do not believe that the "Unknown" was down to Hanson's weight when they wrestled before, and it must be confessed that judging from appearances there is some reason to believe they are right. The match tonight, however, is to be at 150 pounds ringside weight, and both men say they will be able to make this easily. Hanson took his final workout at the T. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, finishing up his training in fine shape. That the Swede is in better condition now than on either of his previous meetings with the masked wrestler is easily to be seen by those who have witnessed him in action recently, and many of his admirers are looking to him for a victory tonight.

However, the "Unknown", who arrived in the city yesterday, seems to have another opinion. He believes that the match will end as did his last two meetings with Hanson, in a victory for himself. He says he is in splendid condition, and will make the required weight all right.

Hanson hopes to induce the "Unknown" to unmask tonight, whether he wins or loses the bout, and the fans would also like to have a look-see at his face.

Gunner McGurley, of Fort Caswell, will referee tonight. The preliminaries will begin at 8:30 o'clock and the main bout will start somewhere around 9.

Representatives of the Baltimore and Annapolis line of the Southern Railway, at which President Harrison was the chief speaker. The resolution adopted is as follows:

"Whereas there have lately been several changes and promotions among the officials of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company and the Seaboard Air Line Railroad Company, among other officers of certain of the citizens of Wilmington in which the people of Wilmington take an especial pride; and

"Whereas the industrial development of the city of Wilmington and its section generally is interwoven with the progress and development of both the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company and the Seaboard Air Line Railroad Company and the interest of the city and said companies is a mutual one; and

"Whereas each of said companies has heretofore contributed largely to the growth and development of this city and it is believed that a meeting of said officials with the members of this chamber will be productive of good results, both to the city and to the said companies:

"Therefore, be it resolved, That this Chamber prepare a banquet to which there shall be invited the officials of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company and the officials of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad Company and the officials of the Clyde Steamship Company and the Baltimore & Carolina Steamship Company and that the president of the Chamber appoint a special committee, or special committees, to whom shall be intrusted the carrying of this resolution into effect and by whom shall be determined the time and place for such banquet.

"Resolved further, That in attending to the officials this invitation to such banquet that a copy of this resolution be enclosed with such invitation."

The first matter coming before the Chamber yesterday that was the subject of interesting discussion was that of the proposed improvement of Princess street, between Tenth and Seventeenth, which came up through the joint report of the Civic Improvement and Streets and Wharves committees.

It was reported that the city would probably provide for the Princess street improvement in the next budget. In view of the present situation and the attitude of the city government and the Tidewater Power Company, the committees deemed it not advisable for the Chamber to press the Princess street improvement matter at present. On motion by Mr. F. E. Hashagen to adopt the report, Albert B. Williams, Esq., said he considered the report suggestive of indefinite postponement of the improvement which is admittedly necessary. He paid tribute to Mr. Hugh MacRae, who he declared had done as much as any other three men for the development of Wilmington and surrounding territory, pointed to the projects upon which the Tidewater Power Company is now working, such as the Audubon development, the auditorium at the beach, etc., but declared that these are private enterprises, though community assets, and that he did not believe that a needed improvement for the public welfare, such as the Princess street improvement, should be sidetracked simply because the Tidewater Power Company desires to use its money in private enterprises which it deems more pressing. These should not be given precedent over public improvements, he thought.

FOR RECORDER BROOKE G. EMPIE

I herewith present my name to the voters of New Hanover County for the office of Recorder, to be voted on at the primary to be held June 3rd, 1916. It will greatly gratify me to have all my old friends' support and I will thank them for any efforts in my behalf in getting some new friends to aid them in nominating me for the office.

Let lawyers interpret the law.
April 30th BROOKE G. EMPIE

would probably submit to the voters in the June primary the question of increasing the tax rate 10 cents on the $100, to take care of Princess street improvement and other proposed improvements and that he thought the Chamber ought to give the proposal the benefit of its endorsement, but that this should be done as a matter separate from the action upon the report before the house.

Mr. L. B. Sasser opposed the improvement of Princess street at the present time, in view of the stringent financial conditions under which he said all corporations and enterprises have been laboring for quite a while. If the Tidewater Power Company has any money to spend for improvements in the city, he thought it should be spent in taking down the old "dingy" street lights over the city and putting up good lights such as those in the vicinity of Front and Princess. Other streets in the city need improvement, he thought, as much as Princess.

Mr. J. G. McCormick opposed the adoption of the report of the committees in its present form. He considered that such action by the Chamber would be equivalent to going on record as saying that because the Tidewater Power Company desires at present to spend its money elsewhere, the Chamber is willing to step aside and abandon its pressure for the admittedly necessary improvement of one of the most important thoroughfares in the city, and allow the matter to be referred indefinitely. He moved that the report be tabled.

Mr. Williams again arose to say that the keynote of the report was that while the improvement is needed, the Chamber is willing that it be deferred because of lack of co-operation. He said that there are now four propositions before the city—the factory sifter proposition, which he considered the most important before the municipality in years, the Princess street improvement, the hook and ladder proposition, and the "get-together" spirit. He said there is danger that if the Chamber should split on the Princess street proposition, the city would lose on all four propositions. He declared that Wilmington should get the Charlotte and Atlanta spirit and that the community will never get what it needs until individuals willing to sacrifice something of personal interest for the common good.

Postmaster H. McEl Green offered an amendment to the report should be referred to the committees to be further considered. Mr. Hashagen opposed the amendment, but on vote the Green motion was declared carried, and the report was re-referred.

Thanks in Sembole Matter.
After receiving a communication from Col. Walker Taylor, collector of customs, formally informing the Chamber that success had been attained in the efforts to keep the revenue cutter Sembole at the port of Wilmington, a resolution was adopted, on motion of Major Joseph W. Little, seconded by Mr. Thomas E. Cooper, extending the thanks of the Chamber to Colonel Taylor, Senators Simmons and Overman and Congressman Godwin for their service in preventing the removal of the Sembole from Wilmington.

THEATRICAL

The third great chapter of "The Iron Claw" at the Bijou today, absolutely outvalues any two reels of serial motion picture that has ever been presented in Wilmington. There is no let-up, no cessation of the breath-taking action, all the way through from the first to the last flash.

Pearl White, the adorable heroine of a thousand adventures, dear to the hearts of every motion picture fan in America, begins to enmesh the blithe, the gay, the debonnaire Creighton Hale with her golden locks, her dark flashing eyes, flashing their messages of mirth and fear, and Creighton Hale in turn develops a startling flash of depth that is remarkable in view of the idle, foppish role he carries.

Sheldon Lewis, famous wherever motion pictures are shown, in the role of the fatal "Iron Claw" again enmeshes the dauntless Pearl with his fatal claw, and there is something doing in every paragraph. It is a thriller from the first to the last flash.

There will be another feature that is notable, on today's bill. The current number of the Animated Weekly contains 200 feet of the newest authentic pictures from the Villa chase in Mexico, showing the U. S. troops on the chase, also Carranza and his troops who are trying to beat Uncle Sam to Villa. There is a spectacular auto race with 80-mile speed demons, there is some startlingly realistic scenes of Jack Willard, the world champion, and of Frank Gotch, originator of the deadly toe hold, making ready for a bout. There is a raft of other big things, too.

"The Girl and the Game" is drawing near to a close now. Only three more chapters after today and it will be history. So, therefore, each and every scene from now until the last scene of the 15th chapter is bound to be full of daring and spectacular stunts, thrilling climaxes and dangerous scenes.

Chapter 13, on at the Grand today, entitled "Buried Alive," as the title might infer, is one of the most spectacular thrillers ever filmed. A premature explosion in the mine causes a big cave-in and Rhineland and Storm are imprisoned. Helen takes a hair raising ride in a suspended ore bucket in her search for aid on an aerial tramway, and again is Seggie maddly chagrined when it is found that the explosion has again opened up the mother lode, after he has disposed of the mine to Rhineland on false representations.

Don't miss "The Girl and the Game" today, whatever else you may have to miss. It is right there and you will be sorry if you don't see it.

There will be two great comedies on today in addition, making today's bill one of the biggest yet.

At the Royal Tomorrow, the Royal presents one of the greatest feature photoplays of the year, a Selig Reel Seal Play, "Thou Shalt Not Covet." In five acts, starring in the two leading roles Kathlyn Williams, one of the greatest photoplays that the world ever knew, with Tyrone Power, one of Broadway's brightest lights.

"Thou Shalt Not Covet," as might be imagined, was based upon the Biblical commandment, "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife," and starting in its realism, the photoplay deals with a man, deep in love with "his neighbor's wife." To try to escape from the torment, he determines to go abroad, only to find his "neighbor's wife" on the same boat. There is a shipwreck—by the way, the most realistic portrayal ever seen on the screen, the staging of which was based on the Titanic disaster—and he saves his neighbor's wife, only to be cast along with her, on a desert island. She, with her mind disarranged, thinks he is her husband. That is the beginning of one of the tensest dramas ever written from the pen of James Oliver Curwood.

"Red Feather" Photoplay Today.

Today the Royal presents the first of the great "Red Feather" photoplays that new brand of features which have been so widely advertised and which have been making such a sensation in the big cities everywhere. The initial release of the Red Feather Photoplays stars that dainty and charming Universal star, Violet Mersereau, in one of the most charming romantic dramatic features of the year, "The Path of Happiness," a feature film in five acts, replete with the most stirring interest and heart throbs you ever saw pictured on the screen.

Lovers of nature and the beautiful woods will revel in the magnificent scenery of "The Path of Happiness." It

REVIVAL AT WHITEVILLE

Evangelist W. R. Quinton Attracting Large Crowds and Arousing Much Interest.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., April 13.—For a week yesterday revival services have been in progress at the Methodist church here that have been eclipsing in interest and attendance any previous meetings before held in Whiteville. Rev. W. R. Quinton, an evangelist from Alabama, is conducting the revival and is being assisted by his wife, both of whom are earnestly and untiringly devoting their efforts for a successful series of meetings here.

Beginning last Tuesday morning, the many of the offices and stores, have been closed for the morning services at 10:30, which have been comparatively remarkable in the attendance. Yesterday and again today services have been held at the High School that have been attended by the patrons as well. At each evening service the seating capacity of the church has been taxed and extra seats were made necessary. Mr. Quinton is an evangelist of wonderful force and puts into his sermons a quantity of plain talk hardly ever heard here before. The series of meetings will continue through Sunday and possibly on into the week following.

Democratic Mass Meeting.

A call has been issued by a great many Democrats in the town for a mass meeting in the court house Tuesday night, April 18th, when a complete municipal ticket will be nominated to be voted for on the first day of May, when the town election is held.

The name of Mr. S. E. Memory, one of the leading business men of the town, will be presented by his friends at a caucus Tuesday night for the mayoralty nomination.

It is generally conceded at Boardman, where the Butts Lumber Company's mills are located, that Mr. E. S. Wright will succeed his father, Mr. E. B. Wright, who passed away in Philadelphia last Sunday morning, as vice president and general manager of the company. Mr. Wright has been assistant to his father for some time and while a comparatively young man, is well prepared to handle his new responsibilities.

MR. LEMUEL HODGES DEAD.

Aged and Highly Esteemed Citizen of Warsaw Passes Away.

(Special Star Correspondence.) Warsaw, N. C., April 13.—Mr. Lemuel W. Hodges, an aged and highly esteemed citizen of this town, died suddenly at the home of his son, Mr. Mills Hodges, in this city, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the 80th year of his age.

Though he has been in feeble health for several months, he seemed better for the last few days, and had been attending the revival services at the Baptist church. He was left seated on the porch of his home for a few minutes, and when Mr. and Mrs. Mills Hodges returned to him, he was found in a critical condition, and died a few moments later.

The deceased was a Confederate Veteran, having served in Company E, 20th North Carolina Regiment, after which he served in the State Legislature, and lived for the greater part of his life on his farm near town, and his home in the town. He is survived by one son, Mr. Mills Hodges, of Warsaw, the last and only remaining member of the Hodges name of his family, and by one sister, a Mrs. Noble, of Wilmington.

LENOIR COURT EXPRESSES REGRET

Takes Official Cognizance of the Death of Hon. Junius Davis.

(Special Star Correspondence.) Kinston, N. C., April 13.—The following was passed at a meeting of the local Bar Association in Superior court Wednesday: "North Carolina: Lenoir county: April term: Hon. W. M. Bond, judge presiding. "In memory of Hon. Junius Davis: "At the opening of this morning Judge Bond suggested to the bar present, that in his judgment it would be appropriate that we express regret at the death of Hon. Junius Davis, of Wilmington, whose well-rounded career the papers announce has just closed. Also that we tender our sympathy to his family.

MT. OLIVE CLEANS UP.

Citizens of Town Responded to Mayor's Proclamation Yesterday.

(Special Star Correspondence.) Mt. Olive, N. C., April 13.—Today has been observed here as "annual clean-up day." This annual event has as its most enthusiastic sponsors the "Woman's Club of Mount Olive," formerly the "Community Club," acting upon whose suggestion the mayor issued a proclamation, calling upon all property owners and tenants as well, to set apart such a portion of the day as necessary to remove from their premises all unsightly garbage and unnecessary filth containers of every description, placing them out on the streets, from

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Don't Stay Gray! Nobody Can Tell When You Can Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

the tulle. Three roses in tearose and pink shades are clustered at one side. Speaking of rose-trimmed hats, one must not forget the Watteau model which are for very, very pretty faces and preferably for heads with blond tresses. There is no mistake about it—golden hair does set off a flower-trimmed hat marvelously, and red hair does set off a black hat. The Watteau hat is very flat in front, lifting down to shade the eyes, but as the back it rises to untold heights, shooting up at an angle to show the mass of puffs which make the high Watteau coiffure. From the sides of the hat narrow ribbons extend backward to tie in a bow just below the knot or puffs of the hairdressing, and roses, forget-me-nots, heliotrope seems to be the neglected one. People who wear glasses continuously usually keep them spic and span because they realize how much their appearance depends on the clear, flawless condition of the glass always before their eyes. For a few cents a package of prepared cleaning and polishing paper may be obtained and one has only to tear off a leaf and rub the glasses half a minute to make them brilliantly clear.

Quite in contrast to the coquettish Watteau bonnets are the severe, high-crowned Directoire bonnets with a bunch of small ostrich feathers nodding from the top of the tall crown in front. One of these hats, in fine black straw, has a fawn-colored ostrich plume in pompon shape at the very top of the crown. In front, a ruche of black tulle running around the crown, two inches from the top. Under the chin goes a "bride" of black velvet ribbon.

THE latest addition to the comfort of the luxurious motorist is a tonneau pillow of leather which may be shoved between the seat-cushion and one's shoulderblades, tucked under an elbow, or even placed beneath the feet. Two or three of these pillows make a wide tonneau seat much more comfortable for only one person occupies it, for the leather pillows, wedged in the space ordinarily occupied by another person, keep the solitary one from sliding and slipping about in the jolting car. The pillows are bag-shaped and have handles at one side so they may be carried easily. They come in a variety of colors of leather and will be useful also in the shade and at roadside picnics when the car stops for luncheon en route.

If you have strong scruples against the use of cosmetics, try this simple vegetable treatment sometime, when you wish to appear especially well and fresh. You possessed a little of the rosy girlhood look you used to have. Massage the face and neck with crushed strawberry pulp and juice. Follow with a massage of thick, sweet cream, pinching a whole half pint of the cream into the skin. Allow it to dry. Then wash with cold water. Here you will be surprised to note how youthfully pink and white your complexion has grown! Now slice a rind of beet and apply it lightly to your cheeks. You will be rewarded by delicate rose tints of color. If you use a very little powder, ordinary talcum will do if you have objection to poudre de riz.

COTTON MARKET UNSETTLED

Prices Rise On Under Scattering Liquidation—General List Closes Steady at Net Decline.

New York, April 13.—The cotton market was unsettled today, prices ranging off under scattering liquidation generally attributed to nervousness over international politics.

July contracts sold as high as 13.00 but broke to 11.95 and closed at that level with the general list closing steady at a net decline of 2 to 7 points.

Liverpool was relatively steady but the market here opened unchanged to 4 points lower and the active months sold 2 to 5 points under last night's close during the first few minutes. There seemed to be considerable Wall Street selling but on covering which followed, the western belt forecast for rain and lower temperatures, prices rallied several points. May sold up from 11.75 to 11.84 and October from 12.00 to 12.15 with active positions working about 1 to 4 points net higher. Sentiment seemed more unsettled during the afternoon, owing to unfavorable news from Mexico and the continued weakness of the stock market. May sold down to 11.77 and October to 12.06 in the late trading. Closing quotations were a practically the low point of the day.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

Narrow Fluctuations Characterized the Market Which Atead Heavy.

New Orleans, April 13.—Narrow fluctuations again characterized the local cotton market today which acted heavy, and but for the steadiness of spots and the forecast of colder weather falling pressure probably could have increased. As it was, traders on both sides displayed caution and the market was sent into a deadlock.

The weather map was favorable and first prices were at loss of 1 to 3 points. The forecast of lower temperatures caused momentary buying on which trading months went 2 to 4 points above yesterday's close. Rumors that fresh evidence made the Sussex case look more unfavorable resulted in increased offerings and from the middle of the morning on, the market sagged. At their lowest the trading months were 4 to 5 points under the last prices of yesterday. The close was at a net loss of 3 to 4 points.

Spots were unchanged at 11.95 for middling, whereas the May options sold down to 11.61.

Market closed steady: May 11.63; July 11.83; October 11.89; December 12.02.

Spot cotton steady; unchanged; sales on the spot 980 bales; to arrive 200 bales; middling 11.83.

SHARP DECLINE IN WHEAT STOCKS AT LOWER LEVELS

Caused by Weakness of Stock Market Over International Situation—The Close Was Heavy.

Chicago, April 13.—Stock market weakness reflecting strained relations of the United States with Mexico and Germany, had a good deal to do today with a sharp decline that took place in the value of wheat. Quotations closed heavy, 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 net lower, with May at 1.16 1/2 and July at 1.14 1/2. Other leading staples, too, all show a set back. Corn, 1/2 to 3/4; oats, 1/2 to 3/4; and provisions, 2 1/2 to 1 1/2.

MARKET CONFUSED OVER GERMAN AND MEXICAN SITUATIONS—Only Feeble Rallyes at the Close.

New York, April 13.—The stock market was confused today by over-night advices which heightened fears of a rupture with Germany and additional complications with Mexico. Selling was persistent, if not urgent, from the outset, and continued at increasingly lower levels almost to the end. Irregular support exercised little effect, final prices showing only feeble rallies.

Mexican shares were under pronounced pressure, Mexican Petroleum declining 6 1-2 to 102 3-4; Green Cananea 3 1-2 to 4; Texas Company 5 to 189, and American Smelting 1 1-2 to 98. War shares were affected to a like extent, while the Automobile group was depressed even more, general motors scoring a loss of 10 points.

Shipping issues were lower by 2 to 3 points and coppers lost 1 to 2 points with as much as 3 for American Zinc. Unaffiliated shares yielded with the general run of stocks, dealings embracing an unusually large number of stocks.

United States Steel contributed to the unsettledness by falling 1 1-2 to 32 1-2 on a very large overturn. The weakness of Reading made that stock conspicuous among rails and Canadian Pacific, Union and Southern, Erie, Erie St. Paul and New Haven were offered at marked concessions. Total 710,000 shares.

In the excellent little attention seemed to be paid to the increased weakness of French and Russian exchange. The Paris check broke to 507 1-2, believed to be without precedent in these financial relations between this country and France. Sterling and marks were unchanged.

Bonds were slightly lower, with total sales, par value $3,500,000. United States bond unchanged on call.

SPEAKS IN DEFENSE OF NAVY'S ADMINISTRATION

Says Critics Are After Personal or Political Gain.

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt Before Navy League Declares Faults Are Not With the Present Administration.

Washington, April 13.—A National defense commission, a navy general staff and an immediate increase in the navy were demanded in resolutions adopted here today at the final meeting of the annual convention of the Navy League of the United States. Officers of the League were instructed to urge Congress to enact the necessary legislation.

"In our opinion," read the resolutions, "the navy is entirely inadequate in strength, not only in ships and personnel but in many other essentials, to defend us properly against aggression, and this unhappy condition will of necessity, continue until we adopt some well considered and enduring policy." Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt defended the navy against criticism from those who, he said, were trying to gain personal or political profit. Shortage of personnel, he declared, did not arise with the present administration.

"When the fleet went around the world," said Mr. Roosevelt, "it was necessary in order to commission all the 16 battleships and the few auxiliaries to strip many other vessels and to borrow men from shore stations. Again in 1912, when President Taft reviewed the so-called 'great mobilization' in New York harbor, a surprisingly large number of the ships were in bad physical condition and a great number short of officers and men."

No navy though, in time of peace, ever has been maintained on a complete war footing, said Mr. Roosevelt, and all nations have kept ships in reserve. He thought the 15,000 additional men recommended by the General Board, and by Secretary Daniels was the maximum number that could be enlisted this year, and branded as false reports that the department could not get men to enlist.

Need of a navy reserve was emphasized by Mr. Roosevelt, who described the department's "naval Plattsburg" to be held off the Atlantic coast this summer, as the first step towards an adequate reserve.

ATTACK ON SUSSEX IS VIRTUALLY ADMITTED

Believed to be the Conclusion of the Administration.

Unless Germany Shows Evidence of Her Good Faith, Action of a Drastic Nature by the Government Will Follow.

Washington, April 13.—The United States is disposed to consider that Germany, in the latest submarine note, virtually has admitted one of her submarine commanders torpedoed the channel steamer Sussex. President Wilson and Secretary Lansing today examined the official text of the communication from Berlin and are understood to have reached this conclusion, although no announcement was made.

Unless Germany should without equivocation admit attacking the vessel, which has aboard more than a score of American citizens, inflict adequate punishment upon the commander of the submarine and in other ways show evidences of good faith, action of a drastic nature undoubtedly will follow. Details of the policy to be pursued are expected to be formulated at the meeting of the cabinet tomorrow. The assumption of Germany's administration is founded upon the marked similarity of the circumstances surrounding the explosion which damaged the Sussex and the attack on a steamer in the channel described in the German note.

The time and location are practically the same. The damage done by the torpedo fired by the submarine and the explosion which wrecked the Sussex are identical. The course being followed by the Sussex and by the vessel mentioned in the note are similar. The only difference in the two versions, that of Germany based upon the report of a submarine commander and that of the United States founded upon reports of the British and French governments, affidavits of survivors and investigations by American naval, diplomatic and consular officials is found in the description of the Sussex and the description of the vessel attacked by the submarine, based upon a silhouette sketch made by the submarine commander through his periscope. It is considered that the slight variations in two sides of the case very well could be reconciled, and the administration considers that the case of the Sussex is stronger than ever.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush the Kidneys at Once When Back-ache or Bladder Bothers—Meat Forms Uric Acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headache, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get at once about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

KEEP AUSTRIANS FROM ASSISTING AT VERDUN

Italians Bring Pressure to Bear on the Austrian Front.

Claim to Have Made Gains in Nearly All Sections Through Continued Attacks—Italian General Staff Statement.

Washington, April 13.—An Italian general staff statement describing operations designed to keep Austria from withdrawing forces from her own southern frontier to aid in the German drive against Verdun was made public here tonight by the Italian embassy. It follows:

"When the operations against Verdun began the Italian general staff decided to bring energetic pressure to bear upon their own front in order to prevent the Austrians sending troops to the French front. This plan was successfully carried out by means of continued attacks which were begun on March 8 and which resulted in gains to us in nearly all sectors. About 40 prisoners, also machine guns and other arms and ammunition were captured.

"The Austrians hastily brought up reinforcements and endeavored to direct an offensive against Pal Piccolo and also in front of Gorizia. Italian troops, however, promptly counter attacked and succeeded in completely throwing the enemy back, capturing about 700 prisoners, including many officers and quantities of arms, ammunition and other war material.

"Soon after this, Austrian aerial squadrons in several attacks endeavored to destroy Italian lines of communication and also to drop bombs on the unfortified towns of Ancona and Udine. But the Italian anti-aircraft artillery and airmen were able, in five days, to beat down 11 enemy aeroplanes and to shoot down one dirigible in a raid upon an Austrian territory threw about 800 kilograms of explosives upon the railroad junction of Opicina, while six Caproni aeroplanes threw forty bombs on the station of Adelsberg all returning safely."

UNITED STATES TROOPS IN CLASH WITH MEXICAN CIVILIANS IN FARRAL

Together useless to continue discussing the conditions and details of same, because these details can be taken up later if it is considered necessary should a repetition of the lamentable incidents happening at Columbus occur.

Negotiations Terminated. The concluding paragraph, which formally terminates for the present negotiations over the proposed agreement, again lays stress on the fact that Secretary Lansing's suggestion that the Villa pursuit be classed outside the agreement. The expedition is without warrant under the circumstances, the note asserts, adding that "it is now time to treat with the government of the United States upon the subject of the withdrawal of its forces from our territory."

Although no State Department official would comment upon this aspect, it was intimated that misunderstanding might still exist in Mexico as to the attitude of the United States; and that the present expedition was regarded at the State Department as coming under the terms of the projected agreement. The terms of the agreement as suggested originally or as amended by Secretary Lansing never have been made public.

Whatever steps the War Department has taken, further than Secretary Baker's order to General Funston with the possibility in view of an attempt to eject the American forces from Mexican soil, have not been disclosed, but it is known that military authorities have very definite plans for the relief of any beleaguered column.

Farral is described as lying at the base of a rugged mountain on the bank of a river and flanking the stage road. It is thought by some that the American column merely sought to pass along the road leading through the outskirts.

Collector Cobb, at El Paso, tonight telegraphed the State Department that there was considerable uneasiness there and elsewhere along the border, but without demonstration from the large Mexican population at El Paso. Some excitement followed an attempt by El Paso authorities to extradite a Mexican charged with conspiracy to murder. But, Collector Cobb prevailed upon the city authorities to defer action.

One of the 50 horsepower Curtiss biplanes tested today at Newport News has been accepted and is on its way to the border for the use of General Pershing. The tests were so successful that it has been decided to have three other Curtiss machines shipped direct from the factory without being subjected to the usual inspection tests.

PROBING GASOLINE PRICES WITH VIEW TO PROSECUTION

Washington, April 13.—Evidence relating to the rise in gasoline prices is being considered by the Department of Justice, with a view, it is understood, to determine if prosecutions can be brought under the present law or whether additional legislation will be required.

Attorney General Gregory declined today to give the Senate the information sought in the Kenyon resolution regarding the results of an investigation of the working of the Supreme Court's Standard Oil decree on the ground to do so would be incompatible with the public interest.

Mexico City, April 13.—American soldiers and the townspeople of Farral engaged a pitched battle at 1 o'clock today, according to a report received here this evening from General Obregon, secretary of war. In the fighting one American soldier was killed and a number wounded. Several Mexicans were wounded.
